Famous Old Warship Meets With Accident in a Fog Off Block Island.

Number of Crew Killed as Struck by Falling Hatch; Others Taken Off.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BLOCK ISLAND (R. I.) June 26.—The United States cruiser Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flag-ship at the Battle of Manila Bay, went aground in the fog off Block Island early today. The cruiser was reported in a bad position, with considerable water in her hold.

Chief Machinist's Mate William Smith lost his life when he was struck on the head by a falling hatch. No other fatalities were reported.

Coast patrol and wrecking vessels are standing by the ship tonight. The crew remained calm, but it was admitted that as a precautionary measure a part of the crew had been taken off.

The Olympia put out yesterday for target practice, and it is supposed she struck during the thick fog which stretched far out from shore. Details of her exact position could not be learned here.

The Olympia was recently assigned as the flagship of the coast patrol fleet of the second naval district. Immediately after she flashed out word of her mishap members of the patrol fleet went to her aid, but it was found that the famous old warship was in no immediate danger of breaking up.

ABANDONED BY CREW.

NEWPORT (R. I.) June 26.—The crew of the Olympia, which went on the rocks off Block Island today, abandoned the ship on orders, and was brought to the naval station here today. Other warships are standing by. She was reported to be badly damaged.

OLYMPIA RESTING EASILY.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Reports to the Navy Department tonight indicated that, while the Olympia was seriously damaged by grounding, she was resting easily in shoal water and is in no further danger.

The department's announcement regarding the accident says: "Monday afternoon U.S.S. Olympia struck south of Cerberus Shoal in Block Island Sound. Port engine and fire-rooms flooded. After ship lifted 10 deg. Ship was then in shoal water for observation, and now is resting easily in four and one-half fathoms on edge of shoal."

RUSSIAN REFUGEES ON THE WAY HOME.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

STOCKHOLM, June 26. — Two hundred and fifty Russian refugees from Switzerland arrived in Stockholm Sunday and proceeded on their way to Russia.

It now appears that only thirty-five Russian refugees from Belgium, instead of 200 as reported yesterday, have been held up by the order of the Russian provisional government refusing them admission to Russia because they returned by way of Germany.

Men and Women Unbalanced by War Flock to Washington to End It.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Six Department of Justice agents were assigned tonight to guard Federal Judge Mayer at the trial beginning here tomorrow of Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, anarchists, arrested here recently charged with attempting to defeat the selective draft law.

Reports that Judge Mayer, who will preside at the trial, had received letters threatening his life were explained tonight by his announcement that telegrams and letters he received merely protested against the prosecution of the defendants.

At the same time it was announced that Harold A. Content, the Federal assistant district attorney who will try the case, had been threatened with death in letters he received.

FLOCK TO WASHINGTON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 26.—Mentally unbalanced by the excitement and horror of the European war, men and women are flocking to Washington with plans to end the conflict, to make war impossible, to solve the problem of the submarine, the Zeppelin and the gas which is the terror of the men in the trenches.

Since the 1st of June the police have been obliged to arrest eighty-six persons, a majority of them men, who came to Washington to tell the President how to win the war with Germany. Of this number thirty-five were sent to the Washington Asylum Hospital and fifty-four to St. Elizabeth's, both institutions for the care of the insane.

Inspector Lynn, who examines all persons detained by the police on the charge of insanity, said today that throughout the country mentally defective men and women are causing more trouble than thieves and crooks. He added that the first thing a fanatic wants to do when he becomes convinced that "war is hell," and that it should be stopped, is to board a train and come to Washington.

Many of these irrationals have designs upon the life of President Wilson, and others upon members of his Cabinet and other high officials, a potential danger which the Washington police and secret service are constantly on the alert to prevent.

BERKMAN'S ACCUSED AIDE IS ARRESTED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

OAKLAND, June 26.—Held in connection with the distribution of seditious literature sent out by Alexander Berkman from New York, J. H. Lang, an electrician and machinist employed by the Standard Gas Engine Company, was turned over to the Federal authorities today by the Oakland police. Lang was arrested this morning after an investigation which traced the source of a large quantity of seditious literature circulated throughout Oakland.

The inspectors found, according to their report to Chief Peterson, a letter written by Berkman to Lang directing him in the distribution of the pamphlets and asking him to send any money he received to New York to be used in the anti-draft propaganda.

EXAMINE ELECTRICIAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—J. H. Lang, electrician, was turned over to Federal authorities here today for examination in connection with distribution of alleged seditious matter said to have been sent by Alexander Berkman from New York. Lang was arrested in Oakland after investigation which traced the source of a large quantity of seditious matter circulated there. Police inspectors, according to their report, found a letter from Berkman to Lang directing distribution of pamphlets and asking the latter to send any money he might receive to New York to be used in anti-draft propaganda.

Judge Landis probably will impose next week of those who pleaded guilty.

FOOD PELLETS TO WIN WAR.

It's All a Question of the Belly, Mr. Prothero Says.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, June 27.—"Discontent of the stomach is more to be feared than discontent of the brain—that is why we value the co-operation of American farmers." This statement was made by R. E. Prothero, Minister of Agriculture, to the Associated Press yesterday. "The outcome of the war," said Mr. Prothero, "may ultimately hang on the question of food supplies, and the American farmer is allotted the essential part to play in the great struggle for freedom."

Henry F. Niedringhaus of St. Louis Tells Council of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of the Spirit of Republic Compact so Necessary to Success.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 26.—A strong plea for unity of the American people in the "struggle for humanity" was made by Henry F. Niedringhaus of St. Louis, imperial potentate, in an address at the annual of the imperial council, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

"Today a mighty inspiration impels every one of us to lose in patriotic consecration whatever has disappointed, whatever has estranged, whatever has divided us," he declared. "We are Americans and we stand for human liberty and human justice.

"Let us resolve to crown the miracles of the past with the spirit of a republic compact, united, indissoluble in the bonds of love and patriotism—from the lakes to the gulf, from the Atlantic to the Pacific—the wounds of disappointments, past differences and war healed in every heart.

"And may God forget us if we forget the divinity of our purpose."

The question of admittance of three new shrines caused spirited discussion. Delegates from Fort Dodge, Iowa; Topeka, Kan., and Honolulu, asked that temple districts be authorized so new shrines could be established. Strong opposition developed to the Fort Dodge and Topeka requests.

SPAIN TO SUSPEND ITS GUARANTEES.

MADRID, June 26.—The government yesterday decided to suspend the constitutional guarantees. Premier Dato went to the palace to obtain the King's signature to the decree authorizing the suspension.

DATO GOES TO KING.

PARIS, June 26.—The decision to suspend constitutional guarantees in Spain was reached at a special meeting of the Cabinet yesterday. It goes into effect today.

Dispatches from Madrid give no special reason for this action. The constitutional guarantees have been suspended several times since the outbreak of the war and were restored only recently.

The Cabinet headed by Marquis Prieto resigned on June 8 because of inability to cope with the various internal difficulties. Widespread labor troubles, high prices of necessities, the cutting off of a large part of the country's export trade by the submarine campaign, leading to industrial depression; dissatisfaction in the army and irritation over the persistent pro-German propaganda which has been carried on, combined to produce a dangerous situation, and at times there has been fear of a revolutionary movement. The Dato Cabinet was formed on June 12, and subsequent press dispatches from Madrid said the crisis had passed.

Crops in Sweden are Ruined; Finland's Plight Changes for the Worse.

Most Frightful Winter Since the Medieval Famines, is the Prediction.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE—DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STOCKHOLM, June 26.—Some parts of Europe are petitioning their governments for the privilege of eating bark from trees, so distressful have food conditions become.

America's reported decision to soon forbid exports to neutral countries, combined with the increasingly bad Swedish crop prospect, is causing profound apprehension through the country. Tuesday's rains are insufficient to alter the mournful outlook, because rain fell for only about two hours in many places where it had been needed for eight days.

In Skane, the richest part of Sweden, the crops are ruined. Fodder especially is scarce everywhere. Sweden's safety now rests on the hope that Russia will make a separate peace, thus enabling Sweden to obtain Russian grain through Riga. The general belief is that Russia has grain to spare, but under the present conditions is unable to move it for itself or anybody else.

Simultaneously with Sweden's anxieties, Finland's food situation is changing for the worse. Two districts in the government of Uleaborg and Northern Finland are petitioning for the Senate's permission to collect bark in the crown forests, so that they can mix the ground bark with their pitiful stock of grains.

There are whole Finnish districts where the flour allowance of only twenty-five grams daily is adequate for only one-fifth of the actual number of needy. Meanwhile, the soldiers quartered in the country are eating 6000 cattle monthly and 700 barrels of butter, and are requisitioning horses from the fields. The Finnish people are clamoring for the military's withdrawal.

The rations of the Finnish population are much smaller than for the Russian, which is supposed to receive 400 grams of bread grains daily.

There are numerous remote districts in Europe where the prospect is that next winter's condition will be more terrible than at any time since the famines in medieval times.

German and Austrian soldiers who have escaped from Russian prisons are reaching Finland in such numbers that the Senate has had to appropriate money for extra police to capture them.

BARON RHONDDA WANTS ACCURACY.

ENGLAND DOES NOT FAVOR REPRISALS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, June 26.—No intention of yielding to the widespread demands for reprisals on German towns for the German air raids on England was shown in a debate on the subject today in the House of Lords. The question having been raised by Lord Strachie, Baron Sydenham, former chairman of the air board, deprecated the policy of reprisals. He said he felt sure that in future years the British would be thankful that they had not lowered themselves to the level of the Germans.

The Earl of Derby, Minister of War, said that for every bomb the Germans dropped behind the British lines, the British dropped a hundred behind the German lines. This bombing, he said, had a solely military object and the government considered that nothing should be done to tie the hands of the military authorities in the employment of the aircraft at the disposal in the best way to bring the war to a successful conclusion.

DRAFT EVADERS ARE SENTENCED.

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—Two conscientious objectors to conscription, Frank J. Otto, Jr., and Stephen Stanley, today were sentenced in the United States Court to serve a year in prison for wilfully failing to register on June 5.

RUSSIA AGAINST SEPARATE PEACE.

LONDON, June 26.—Foreign Secretary Balfour said in the House of Commons today he understood Albert Thomas, member of the French Cabinet, who has just returned from a mission to Russia, had been informed by the Russian government of its intention, as soon as circumstances permit, to suggest the convocation of a conference of the Allies to revise the agreements concerning their aims, with the exception of the London agreement, in which the Allies covenanted not to conclude a separate peace.

PAY $60 A YEAR IN WASHINGTON'S ARMY

REVOLUTIONARY POSTER AID TO CHICAGO RECRUITING.

Forefathers Who Fought for Liberty Also Were Assured "Supply of Good and Handsome Cloathing"—Dollar in the Army Today Equal to Three.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 26.—An interesting comparison between the pay received by men who served under Washington and that which will be paid American soldiers who go to France in Pershing's war army was seen today in a recruiting argument which placed a poster of revolutionary days side by side with one appealing for men now.

The men who won freedom for the United States received $60 a year, "the whole of which the soldier may lay up for himself and friends," according to the poster, which points out that ample rations were allowed the army and "an annual and fully sufficient supply of good and handsome cloathing."

The man who enlists during recruiting week will receive not merely food and clothing, but at least $30 a month, with an automatic increase of 20 per cent. when ordered to foreign service. If he qualifies as first-class private he will receive $33 a month, and men with trades do even better. Cooks especially are wanted, at $38 a month. It is estimated that $1 in the army is equal to $3 in civil life, because the soldier's housing, food, clothing, transportation and medical attention are furnished by the government.

Army recruiting officers are pointing out that chances of promotion now are better than ever before.

OMAHA (Neb.) LUTHERAN CHURCH PLEDGES LOYALTY.

CHICAGO, June 26.—The final session of the forty-seventh convention of the general synod of the Evangelical Luthern Church was held today. Resolutions pledging unswerving loyalty to the United States and the government in the war and promising the support of the synod for the purpose of "defending the national honor and re-establishing international law and order in the world," were adopted.

WHO IS THE LEADER OF OUR SOLDIERS?

LONDON, June 26.—Asked by Joseph King, Liberal member for North Somerset, in the House of Commons today whether the "American soldiers now on the western front are under the supreme command of the French Generalissimo or Gen. Haig or the American general, William Forster, Financial Secretary for War, replied:

"The American government will doubtless make suitable announcement as to the disposal of their forces when they consider it opportune to do so."

PETROGRAD, June 26. — The Russkia Volia says that 3000 Finnish volunteers, who formerly served in the German army, are expected to attempt to enter Finland shortly. The border guard has been increased and strict orders have been issued. The newspaper regards the release by Germany of 3000 fighters in view of the great need of human material as evidence of the very suspicious character of this emigration.

The Central Committee of the Finnish Social Democratic Workmen's party has protested strongly against the nonadmittance of the Finns to Finland.

DRY QUESTION DODGED IN AMENDED FOOD BILL.

Senate Would Close Distilleries, but Still Serve Beer and Wine.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 26.—Professing to be for thoroughgoing, war-time prohibition the subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Agriculture today "passed the buck" on the liquor question to the President.

The continuation of the manufacture of beer and wines in this country will require the approval of President Wilson if the action taken by the subcommittee receives the final approval of Congress.

The subcommittee, in amending the House food control bill, has retained the prohibition of the use of foodstuffs in the manufacture of alcoholic beverages. But it has also written into the bill a provision authorizing the President to waive this prohibition so far as malt or vinous beverages are concerned, if in his judgment, "the emergency" requires such action. The President may also specify what the alcoholic content of these beverages is to be.

The use of foodstuffs in the manufacture of distilled spirits, whisky, is absolutely prohibited. The President is authorized to commandeer all or part of the distilled spirits now in bond.

GIST OF PROVISION.

The provision agreed to which is to be section 14 of the food control bill reads:

"That from and after thirty days from the date of the approval of this act it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to use in the manufacture of any liquor for beverage purposes any perishable or nonperishable feeds, foods, materials.

"Whenever the President shall find it necessary to conserve the foregoing perishable products referred to in the foregoing paragraphs he is empowered to permit the use of such products in the manufacture of liquors and when the question arises as to whether a particular product is perishable or nonperishable or suitable for foods, the President is authorized to determine that question and his determination shall be conclusive for the purposes of this act.

"Whenever in the judgment of the President the public interest would be subserved he is empowered to permit the limited use of the material mentioned in paragraph A of this section in the manufacture of malt or fermented liquors and to prescribe the alcoholic content thereof."

OPINIONS DIFFER.

Opinions differed at the Capitol today as to what course the President would pursue. Some of the Senators asserted the President would continue the manufacture of beer and wine since there were hundreds of thousands of persons in this country who use them daily in moderation and because it might excite bad feeling if they were suddenly prevented from obtaining these beverages.

They pointed out, too, that if the manufacture of beer and wine was discontinued, the country would become a whisky drinking country since there are some 230,000,000 gallons of whisky now in bond in the country, an amount sufficient to last the country perhaps a year and a half without further manufacture of whisky.

The Senators also said that the need of revenue was so great, and so many millions of dollars of revenue would be cut off by the elimination of beer and wine, that the country could ill afford to strike down this source of taxation at this time. Their final argument was that to prohibit the manufacture of beer and wine would throw out of work thousands of men the country over now engaged in their manufacture. Other Senators took the position that the President would accept the verdict of Congress that no foodstuffs should be used to manufacture alcoholic beverages of any kind, and that he would not lift a hand to save the beer and wine trade.

POWER TO COMMANDEER.

They said that under provisions of the bill the President would have the power to commandeer all the distilled spirits in bond for redistillation purposes, the alcohol to be used for the manufacture of munitions and for hospital supplies, etc., and in this way he could prevent the country from turning into whisky drinking nation. It was estimated, however, that if the President should commandeer all the distilled spirits, it would cost the government about $220,000,000, or a dollar a gallon, a sum which the government could not well afford to expend for this purpose at this time.

The action of the subcommittee may be reversed by the full Committee on Agriculture when that committee meets tomorrow. There are a number of strong prohibitionists on the committee, who are not members of the subcommittee, and they may vote for straight-out prohibition of the use of foodstuffs for the manufacture of alcoholic beverages of any kind.

The Senators on the subcommittee who believe that the manufacture of beer and wine should be continued moved first today to exclude these beverages from the prohibition features of the food control bill, leaving the prohibition merely against distilled spirits. This was voted Gratifying Progress.

ROOT FEELS ENCOURAGED BY THE RUSSIAN OUTLOOK.

Mission Leaves Moscow for Petrograd in Belief that Men They Met are Patriotically Devoted to the Task of Bringing Country Through Present Difficulty, and that Clouds Over Peasant Population Show Signs of Lifting.

WITH THE ROOT MISSION EN ROUTE TO PETROGRAD, June 24.—The Root mission left Moscow for Petrograd tonight with a distinct sense of encouragement.

"I have derived much more encouragement from my observations of conditions in Moscow than I expected," said Mr. Root. "It seems clear that the men we met there and the classes they represent are patriotically devoted to the task of bringing the country through her present difficulty. I may say that I think after visiting Moscow that there is a fair chance of their succeeding.

"I believe that the cloud which rested over the peasant population and some of the less informed classes already shows signs of lifting. They are attaining a conception of the meaning of their new liberty and of the way in which to preserve it."

DESCRIBES AMERICAN ARMY.

MOSCOW, June 24.—Elihu Root yesterday received the Moscow journalists and delivered to them a talk on the discipline in the American army.

Mr. Root explained that the American officers either are educated in a special military school or have risen from the ranks, in the latter case, only after they have passed the required examinations. Such a thing as the election of officers by the men was unknown in the United States. There were no soldiers' committees there and no participation by soldiers in courts-martial.

America, continued Mr. Root, heartily rejoiced at Russia's conquest for freedom. One of the chief motives of the United States entering the war, he added, was a desire to fight shoulder to shoulder with the Russian democracy.

The journalists asked Mr. Root whether the active intervention of the United States in the war would not diminish the material support which that country had previously given the Entente Allies. Mr. Root answered in the negative, saying that all shops working on armament would be taken under government control and their production greatly increased.

"Our active participation in the war," continued Mr. Root, "will consist of operations on land and sea and the supply to the Allies of materials, arms and financial support."

Admiration was expressed by Mr. Root for the conduct of the Russians since the revolution.

"The Russians," said Mr. Root, "have conducted themselves with the greatest self-control, restraint and good humor."

He then proceeded to describe his notion of a sound policy for war and peace.

"I consider," he said, "that the only practical method for attaining a proper conclusion of the war, is that the Entente Allies fight with all their possible strength and that the populations of the Allied countries support their aims by all conceivable means. If these conditions are fulfilled, I am convinced the end of the war will be reached during 1918.

"Personally, we Americans are ready to accept all the interpretations of Russia's formula of peace without annexations or contributions; but the American people feel profoundly that the German empire, in a most outrageous and most infamous form, has violated the rights of Belgium and Serbia, and demand that these rights be re-established. Undoubtedly there are other injustices about which America knows little, but which also must be repaired. We consider it just to insist on a full restoration of violated rights of possessions and also reparation for damages."

Encirclement of Lens by British Slowly Goes On; Canadians Take Important Outpost

The Great War.

SMASH AT THE GERMANS MEETS WITH SUCCESS.

Teutons Have Already Ceased Mining Operations in Coal District.

THE following is a review of the principal events of the war for the last twenty-four hours, by the Associated Press:

The slow, but sure, encirclement of Lens, the important coal center held by the Germans in the department of Pas de Calais, is in process of consummation by the Canadians. Having already during the present week captured important vantage points west and south of the town, a fresh smash at the German lines has been rewarded by the occupation of the village of La Coulette, situated a mile to the north.

With the British forces virtually enveloping the town, except on the east, the Germans already have ceased the mining of coal in the immediate vicinity of Lens, thereby seemingly indicating that they realize that their tenure of the position is short-lived.

HAIG IS INACTIVE.

Although the British War Office, aside from the operations around Lens, reports no activity by Field Marshal Haig's men aside from patrol sorties, the Berlin War Office asserts that heavy artillery duels are in progress at various points in which enormous quantities of ammunition are being used. Reading between the lines of the German report, it is apparent that the British are the aggressors and it is possible that Gen. Haig is paving the way for a series of new thrusts against the German lines.

The infantry activity in the region between Soissons and Rheims has given way entirely to artillery duels in the sector of Moulin-de-Laffaux and a continuance by the Germans of the slow demolition of Rheims with gunfire. Monday night saw an engagement of considerable proportions northwest of the Hurtebise farm, where the French captured German first-line trenches and took more than 300 prisoners.

GERMAN ADMISSION.

Berlin, in admitting the gain by the French, tempers the German Crown Prince's loss somewhat by the assertion that in counter-attacks his army captured a greater portion of the lost ground. The Austrians have taken the initiative from the Italians in the Asiago plateau sector of the Austro-Italian theater. Their objective is Monte Ortigara, but the Italians are valiantly holding them back, and, according to the latest Rome communication, have inflicted heavy casualties on them. The battle was still in progress when the communication was forwarded.

Although the engagement has not yet developed, heavy fighting continues between the Russians and Austro-Germans southwest of Lutsk in Volhynia, and between the Dniester and Dniester rivers in Galicia. Nothing has come from either Petrograd or Berlin or Vienna to show the extent of these operations.

JOB FOR VENIZELOS.

It seems probable that all other efforts having failed, Venizelos, former Premier and supporter of the Entente, will form a new Greek Cabinet. Unofficial advices are that at the approaching session of the Greek Parliament a resolution will be introduced favoring the entry of Greece into the war on the side of the Entente.

GERMAN STATEMENT.

BERLIN (via London) June 26.—The French troops which penetrated the German lines northwest of Hurtebise on the Aisne front were subjected to a counter-attack and ejected from the greater part of the positions they had occupied, army headquarters announced today.

Great quantities of ammunition are being expended in artillery fire along the front held by Crown Prince Rupprecht (the British front in Belgium and Northern France) the statement declares.

"Good observation conditions prevailing the artillery activity in other sections on the Aisne and Champagne fronts was lively. An enterprise by one of our thrusting detachments southeast of Tahure was carried out with the success intended.

"Army group of Duke Albrecht: There is nothing special to report.

"During aerial encounters Capt. Baron von Richtofen was successful in overcoming during the past two days his fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth opponents, and Lieut. Allmenroeder yesterday overcame his thirtieth opponent.

"Eastern war theater: Southwest of Lutsk and between the Stripa and the Dniester, the lively fighting activity continues. Russian raiding detachments were driven off on several occasions.

"Macedonian war theater: Conditions are unchanged. In forefield engagements, the Bulgarians retained the upper hand."

FRENCH STATEMENT.

PARIS, June 26.—"The day was calm save in the region of Moulin-de-Laffaux, where the artillery fighting was quite active, and in the region of Rheims, which was violently bombarded," says the official statement issued by the War Office tonight.

"Belgian communication: The enemy shelled our roads of communication, while the artillery actions were especially spirited in the neighborhood of Ramscappelle, Dixmude, Renighe and Pypegaale. There was lively bomb fighting near the Ferryman's house.

"Eastern theater: June 25—Quite intense cannonading on both sides took place in the region of the Vardar and the Cerna bend, where a strong Bulgarian reconnaissance, which attempted to enter our trenches, was dispersed with rifles and grenades. The British troops carried out to the east of Lake Doiran a successful raid in which they took about a dozen Bulgarian prisoners. Entente Allied aviators successfully bombarded a number of enemy encampments."

AUSTRIANS DESPERATE.

ROME, June 26.—Austrian troops are making desperate efforts to recapture the positions recently taken by the Italians in the sector of Monte Ortigara in the Trentino. The war office announced today that the Austrians, notwithstanding heavy losses, have continued since last night their violent attacks, which were being met by Italian counter-attacks.

WITH THE CANADIANS.

CANADIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, June 26.—In their general advance on Lens the Canadians have occupied the strongest outpost in the defense of that place and have entered La Coulette. The increasing pressure on the enemy in the Souchez Valley during the last few weeks has brought signal success to the British arms with relatively slight loss. Several days ago the Germans were known to be destroying houses in the western part of Lens with the object of giving a wide area of fire for their theis. That may indicate the intenthey of clinging to the eastern side they c city and prolonging the struggle with by house-to-house fighting.

RATIONS FOR NEUTRALS NEW AMERICAN POLICY.

Accomplishing of Task will be Left to Board Which Licenses Food Shipments, and Vessels will Only be Allowed so Much Coal When They Leave Ports of this Country.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 26. — A general export policy to be pursued by the United States was taken up today at the first meeting of the new exports council created by President Wilson to advise him as to operation of the export control act.

No announcement was made after the conference, but it was learned the council will recommend immediately a series of Presidential proclamations putting the measure into actual operation.

The first proclamation probably will put under the licensing system coal and fuel including bunkers. This virtually will give the government power to direct the movement of every vessel, American and foreign, entering an American port.

Wheat and wheat products probably will be the next commodities whose shipment must be licensed. The practical rationing of the European neutral countries, now to be undertaken by the United States, will be accomplished by licensing food shipments.

Some officials believe the neutrals should be required to move Australian wheat to the Pacific Coast of the United States, receiving in exchange American wheat at Atlantic Coast ports.

The suggestion has been made that the Allies, before they are granted licenses to move American wheat, first should take the surplus, as the supply in this country just now is unusually short and the new crop barely has begun to move.

Commodities generally will be put under the licensing system by groups.

The licensing system, in addition to covering commodities, probably will be put into operation soon in respect to certain specific countries. This arrangement, it is declared, will give the American government a still firmer control over neutral shipments to Germany.

down. Then they moved to prohibit the manufacture of distilled spirits and to permit the President to prohibit the manufacture of beer and wines in the future if he deemed it necessary to conserve food supply. This, too, was defeated. Finally they offered the proposition which was accepted.

It was suggested here tonight that politics played somewhat of a part in the action of the subcommittee in passing the decision in the matter along to the President. He will not be a candidate for re-election, it was said, and could afford to affront the prohibition element in the country more easily than could some of the Senators who must come up for re-election.

NORWAY APPALLED AT GERMAN PLOT.

CHRISTIANIA, June 26.—Discovery of the German plot to destroy Norwegian steamers by explosives unearthed late last week has appalled the whole nation.

In all a ton of explosives had been discovered concealed in artificial lumps of coal, which presumably were to be placed in ships' bunkers.

It has developed that a trunk full of explosives was brought to Christiania in February by a courier of the German Foreign Office, whose official seal was on the trunk.

At the examination of Aron Rautenfels, a German citizen, and others arrested in connection with the case, it was admitted that explosives were also to have been placed on steamers bound for America.

UTAH SUSPENDS FREIGHT TARIFF.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 26.—The State Public Utilities Commission today issued an order that the proposed tariff for an increase for 15 per cent. in freight rates scheduled to be effective July 1, should be suspended until August 1. Without issuance of such an order the railroads could have put the proposed rates into effect July 1. It was pointed out that in lieu of the evidence given at the hearing, which concluded yesterday, overwhelmingly in favor of the protestants against the application of the railroads for an increase, that the tariff never will be exercised.

AUSTRIAN PLOTTER GUILTY IN ITALY.

PARIS, June 26.—The judgment of the Italian court which tried Monsignor Von Gerlach, the Austrian prelate who was formerly private chamberlain to the Pope, on a charge of espionage, found him guilty, and, although he had left Italy long ago, sentenced him to imprisonment for life, now has been published. It shows that the court found that none of the acts of which Monsignor Von Gerlach was accused were committed within the Vatican or other places occupied by the Holy See, which was entirely absolved from knowledge of any of the occurrences under examination.

Investigation of Monsignor Von Gerlach's activities was begun in Rome after the Italian battleships Benedetto Brin and Leonardo da Vinci were blown up, and one of the plotters, an Italian named Ambrogetti, was reported to have confessed that he was the financial agent of Von Gerlach. A Berlin dispatch last January reported his arrival in Lugano, Switzerland, after having been forced to leave Rome.

LARGE SURPLUS FOR RED CROSS.

Fourteen Million Dollars Ahead, Says Davison.

Dr. Billings Heads Mission to Study Slavs' Needs.

Dispensaries to be Started at All Seaport Towns.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 26. — The nation's contributions to the Red Cross in response to the call for a $100,000,000 war fund were estimated at $114,000,000 tonight by Henry P. Davison, chairman of the Red Cross war council.

"This figure assumes," said Mr. Davison, "that stockholders in companies which he declared special dividends amounting to some $20,000,000 will turn their dividends over to the Red Cross."

The policy of the Red Cross in expending this big sum, Mr. Davison said in a statement thanking the millions of contributors, will be to "conduct all our work with the utmost publicity and to take the public as completely as possible into our confidence." Primarily the fund will be devoted to needs of American soldiers and sailors and secondarily to relief work among the Allies.

Dr. Frank Billings will head the Red Cross commission of more than twenty experts to be sent to Russia to study needs there, Mr. Davison announced.

BILLINGS'S STATEMENT.

His statement follows:

"Local chapters of the Red Cross are entitled to retain for their own work 25 per cent. of the total amount collected, but it is very evident that the National Red Cross will have a generous fund with which to begin its tremendous tasks.

"The result which has been achieved is indeed gratifying. Never before in the history of the world was such a fund for the relief of human suffering raised by voluntary subscription in so brief a period.

"Nothing which has happened before shows so clearly as this campaign that the great heart of the American people is in this struggle with determination that our own men shall be cared for, that everything that can be done shall be done to hearten and to aid the suffering peoples among our allies; indeed, that nothing shall be left undone to win this war.

"No time will be lost by the Red Cross in its efforts to accomplish results with the large resources with which it has now been supplied. Some of the plans which are being developed and which we hope promptly to carry into execution are the following:

FIRST PROVISION.

"First, we shall provide as we may be called upon by the army and navy for the care and safety of our soldiers and sailors wherever they may be.

"We shall provide funds whereby the American Red Cross commission may take over administration of American relief work in France. Maj. Grayson H. P. Murphy, head of the French commission, has been appointed by Gen. Pershing a member of his staff and the Red Cross has appropriated at Maj. Murphy's cabled request $1,000,000 to take care of immediate needs.

"We have cabled each of the Allied governments, seeking authority to install American Red Cross dispensaries in each of their important seaport cities—a measure of relief urgently needed.

"We shall send to Russia a commission to study the needs and the best means of aiding the Russian people.

THE EQUIPMENT.

"The commission will be equipped with materials, instruments and facilities for extending immediate relief in urgent cases and the Red Cross will meanwhile organize to render large and effective aid along the battle line and elsewhere in Russia where there is acute distress. We shall send a similar commission to the people of Rumania.

"The war council of the Red Cross is deeply sensitive of its very grave obligation to administer with all the wisdom and foresight which can be mustered into service the very large sum of money intrusted to it.

"Our policies and plans will be made known as they are developed. It will be our purpose to conduct all our work with the utmost publicity and to take the public as completely as possible into our confidence. The Red Cross belongs to the people and the war council wants the public to understand the seriousness with which it regards the trust which has been committed to it."

More than 1000 of the larger cities raised more than their allotments. All sections of the country passed the goals, with the possible exception of the South.

HEAVY DAMAGES IN UTAH FLOODS.

WATER RECEDES AND MAMMOTH RESERVOIR EMPTIES.

All Lines of Communication are Down Beyond Colton—Seven Railroad Bridges Have been Washed Out and Ones Along State Highway go Also.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALT LAKE, June 26.—Colton is the farthest point east in the Price River flood district which could be reached tonight by telephone, all lines of communication being down beyond that point. At that point it was reported that he water had receded three feet and that the mammoth reservoir in Gooseberry Creek is now empty, save for the water which is running in from the melting snow, the dam having gone out to its foundation near the center of the core.

The flood was caused by the breaking last Sunday of the mammoth dam of the Price River Irrigation Company in Gooseberry Creek, a tributary of the Price River, twelve miles northeast of Fairview, in San Pete county.

Seven railroad bridges on the Denver and Rio Grande line between Colton and Castle Gate have been washed out and three or four bridges along the State highway also have gone out. At Castle Gate five company houses were undermined by the water and collapsed. The tenants had moved out seeking higher ground, and no loss of life or injuries were reported.

The last report received from Price was that the diversion dam, two miles and a half above Price, is still holding out, but that part of the earthworks at each wing had been cut open to keep the water from inundating the entire valley.

With the cause of the disaster still a mystery, plans for the reparation of the damage caused by the breaking of the Mammoth dam are being made.

The Denver and Rio Grande officials in this city received a message today from F. E. Clarity, assistant general manager of the line, who is at the scene of the disaster, that he had personally walked twenty-five miles of the track from Colton to Helper, and he made the official statement that the damage done to the line would amount to about twenty-five miles, although the tracks are not washed out continuously that distance, but in spots aggregating it.

Although the damage includes the loss of seven or eight bridges, officials of the line are of the opinion that reconstruction can be effected to an extent sufficient to permit of the passage of trains within fifteen days. Meanwhile, the Denver and Rio Grande transcontinental passengers will be carried over the Union Pacific line. This plan was first put into practice today.

LOANS TO ALLIES NOW TOTAL OVER A BILLION.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 26.—American loans to the Allies passed the billion-dollar mark today, when the treasury placed $15,000,000 to the credit of Great Britain and $10,000,000 to France's account.

Credits to all the Allies to meet their expenditures in this country now total $1,008,000,000, of which Great Britain has received $550,000,000 and France $210,000,000.

It also was decided to forbid importations of distilled spirits and to authorize the President to seize liquor now held in bond if needed for redistilling purposes.

Hang On.

GERMANS FIGHT AT LENS LIKE WOLF IN A CORNER.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN France, June 26.—Realizing his danger, the German commander is fighting for Lens like a wolf in a corner. Lens gone means that a large sector will have to be abandoned. So, inside a salient somewhat resembling the shape of a dog's head, the Germans are hanging on, apparently determined to hold until the last hope goes.

The Canadiams took La Coulette this morning at 7 o'clock, their patrols pushing on eastward toward Avion, while other British troops advanced down the eastern slope of Hill 65.

The Germans have extended the flood with water from the River Souchez until the plain between Avion and Lens is well covered. The mill city on the western fringe of Lens has been razed by order of the German high command so that the machine guns may have a clean sweep at the British as they approach.

Lens itself is a mass of ruins. The walls still stand, but the city is roofless, making airplane photographs resemble a birdseye view of Pompeii.

Whole rows of houses have been levelled so that the field guns may obtain wider ranges. The entire city has been converted into a German fortress, in which each ruined house is a machine gun emplacement and every cellar and subcellar a refuge.

For weeks the British refrained from shelling Lens, but the Germans, taking advantage of the sentiment staying the hands of the English, brought their guns into the town, razed the houses about the gunpits and then blazed away safely. Recently, therefore, the British guns have trained their sights on the gun positions hidden in the mining capital. The German losses in the Lens salient are heavy, and new drafts are constantly demanded. Prisoners say that they had been promised peace definitely by September.

Regulars.

MEN ARE SLOW TO VOLUNTEER.

Enlistments Wilson Asked Slow to Materialize.

Those Who go in Now may be First to France.

Majority of Regiments are Close to War Strength.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 26. — Response to President Wilson's proclamation calling for 70,000 war volunteers for the regular army during the present week are coming slowly. Only 1451 were obtained yesterday, according to returns from all parts of the country.

While the figures nearly doubled the low mark for daily recruiting set last week, officials were much concerned over the absence of a rush to join the branch of the service certain to be first to face the Germans in France. It is hoped that as recruiting week proceeds and with the tremendous campaign the newspapers of the country are conducting the daily total will be swelled to four or five thousand men.

New York showed the results of the campaign that has been waged by the metropolitan papers. A total of 326 men was obtained in that city. Illinois, despite the fact that the State's quota is nearly 1000 over recruited already, added 162 men during the day. Pennsylvania supplied 147; Massachusetts, 85, and California 68.

The total number of war volunteers obtained since April 1 is now 126,400. This means that the great majority of the regiments are close to full war strength, but it does not provide the necessary reserves to keep them at that strength.

United Fruit Company Wins Steamship Company's Suit.

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—Sustaining a verdict of the United States District Court in favor of the United Fruit Company in the $15,000,000 suit of the Bluefields Steamship Company, Limited, of Louisiana, under the Sherman Anti-trust Act, Judge Woolley, in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here today ruled that "a party to a conspiracy against the trust laws has no redress against the other party to the agreement if it is injured or suffers losses by the actions of its co-conspirators."

"In sustaining its averment that the defendant was an unlawful combination in restraint of trade and an unlawful combination," said the court's opinion, "the plaintiff showed that it was itself a party to that combination and a part of the monopoly."

The suit was based on the allegation that the United Fruit Company obtained stock control of the steamship company soon after it began business in the banana regions of Bluefields, Nicaragua, eventually leading to the dissolution of the plaintiff's business. Treble damages were claimed under the anti-trust laws.

Works of California, one of the "twelve wilfull men," has accepted appointment on the Organizing Committee of the People's Council, it was announced at the headquarters of that pacifist organization today. In a letter to Louis P. In it I undertake to show, by analyzing what has been said from time to time by President Wilson that we have not gone into this war for the purpose of defending or protecting democracy, but for purely selfish reasons affecting our own personal interests and particularly the interests of the munition makers and others who have been growing rich out of the war."

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Suspension during the war of cannon salutes to visiting dignitaries at army posts, fortifications or encampments was ordered today by the War Department.

Athletic contests except interclass meets have been suspended at West Point for the calendar year to permit greater concentration of effort by the student body in preparing themselves for commissions in the army in less than the ordinary four-year course.

The statement does not attempt to analyze the difference in prices, but says:

"Next autumn and winter, if complaints are made in any locality that unreasonable prices are being charged for the canned peas, corn, tomatoes, salmon or similar products, which are now being packed, the commission will be in a position to promptly expose any extortion."

Reports have been received from about 2000 canning factories in response to the commission's inquiries. The commission will investigate quantities purchased by various dealers in an effort to prevent speculative holding.

BUTTE STRIKE IS SPREADING.

Boilermakers and Machinists are Called Out.

Blacksmiths, it is Now Feared, may Follow.

Employers Refuse to Recognize the Union.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BUTTE (Mont.) June 26.—All boiler-makers and machinists employed by the four largest mining companies and one mill in the Butte district were called out today by their unions, who charged that the electrical work was being done by nonunion men. At some of the mines the blacksmiths also quit.

The blacksmiths who met tonight to consider a compromise are one of the important crafts in the mines because the tool sharpeners are in the Blacksmiths' Union. It was said officially by one officer of the biggest employer that the blacksmiths are almost as important as the engineers who do the hoisting, and that if either one of the crafts walk out generally the mines must close.

At least six officials of international unions are coming to Butte, it was said, to help their locals.

W. H. Rodgers, Commissioner of Conciliation of the Federal Department of Labor, had his first conference today with the employers. All mining companies of the district were represented and the employers' position was stated.

Rodgers was informed that the Metal Mine Workers' Union would under no circumstances be recognized, because, the employers stated, it is controlled by the Industrial Workers of the World.

GAIN PEACE, KAISER EXHORTS HIS TROOPS

EMPEROR ADDRESSES ARMY ON THE WESTERN FRONT.

War Lord Congratulates Bayreuth Dragoon Regiment on its Campaign in Rumania and Says it has Upheld Traditions in Way to Please "Old Fritz in Heaven."

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

AMSTERDAM, June 26.—June 21 Emperor William, in reviewing troops on the western front, made a speech in which, according to a Berlin telegram today, he said:

"I express to the troops gathered here my fullest appreciation of their conduct and my firm confidence that they, as hitherto, whenever they may be employed, will, trusting in God, do their duty and succeed in gaining the peace for the Fatherland which we need for its further development."

In conclusion, the Emperor is quoted as saying:

"I am especially delighted to be able once more to congratulate the well-tried dragoon regiment of Bayreuth of Hohenfriedeberg fame. When, in the late summer of 1916, I sent the Boreck squadron to Rumania, I gave it on the way my order to maintain at all costs the old tradition, wherever it might be, and to gain fresh laurels if possible. The regiment fulfilled the expectations of its supreme war lord and accomplished deeds which will please 'old Fritz' up there in the Elysian fields. May it keep this up.

BUYING DIAMONDS IN SPITE OF WAR.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—Neither the high cost of living nor appeals for economy have apparently affected the importation of precious stones into this country. The value of gem imports for the eleven months of the fiscal year at the port of New York was tonight officially given at $41,078,302. Predictions were made in Maiden Lane, the jewelry center, that June importations would swell the total to more than $43,000,000.

CALL THE CLAN MACLEAN.

NEW YORK, June 26.—A call for the Clan MacLean has been sounded from headquarters of the British recruiting mission in this city. About fifty or sixty men, MacLeans preferred, are wanted to fill the vacancies in the ranks of the 236th Battalion of Canadian overseas forces, which the British government will be asked to designate as the MacLean Highlanders of North America. In the last ten days 1301 British subjects have enlisted here for service in France.

Cross-examination.

DETECTIVE FACES GRAVE CHARGES.

MAY GO ON TRIAL IN RUTH CRUGER CASE.

Mayor's Aide Asks that He be Placed on Trial for "Gross and Willful Negligence"—Assign Two Officers to Bring Cocchi Back from Italy.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—After a severe cross-examination of Detective-Sergeant John Lagarenne regarding his search for Ruth Cruger, murdered high school student, Leonard M. Wallstein, who is conducting Mayor Mitchel's investigation into the police handling of the case, announced tonight that he would ask Police Commissioner Woods to place the detective on trial on charges of "gross and willful negligence."

Two detectives have been assigned by Commissioner Woods, it was announced tonight, to go to Italy to bring back Cocchi should the Italian government grant his extradition.

In reference to the Reverend Father Gasper Moretto, manager of a home for immigrants, who heard Cocchi's confession before he fled to Italy, Dist.-Atty. Swann explained that a section of the penal laws protects a priest from divulging what is heard in the confession.

What the authorities feared might be a case similar to that of Ruth Cruger was cleared tonight when a 15-year-old girl who disappeared Sunday night returned to her home. Seventy-five detectives began a search for her today.

CLEAR DEATH MYSTERY.

Brother Identifies Naval Officer and His Bride-to-Be.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 26.—The mystery surrounding the death of a man and woman in a hotel in this city on Sunday, last, was cleared today when John J. Alexander came here from Pittsburgh and identified the dead man as Lieut. Ferdinand S. Alexander, his brother, who, he said, held a commission in the Signal Corps of the navy. Mr. Alexander took charge of the body and that of Louise Jones of New York, to whom Lieut. Alexander was to have been married and who shot herself shortly after Alexander had died from an attack of indigestion.

GAIN IN ENLISTMENTS FOR REGULAR ARMY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—Telegraphic returns to the State Council of Defense from many countries throughout the State show that more than 300 enlistments for the regular army were obtained yesterday, the first day of recruiting week. The largest number of recruits were secured in San Francisco, where sixty-five men volunteered themselves for the infantry and field artillery branches. Only about half of the counties in the State had been heard from, and it is believed that when the total of enlistments in all counties have been received the number will be in excess of the 500 per day that is necessary to fill California's quota.

All county councils of defense which have sent in reports declare they are receiving the fullest cooperation from commercial and civic organizations and from patriotic individuals in the work of securing recruits.

LOGGING CAMPS REPORTED CLOSED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) June 26. — Special dispatches received here today from different localities in Montana, Idaho and Eastern Washington say that practically all the logging camps are closed, but that the strikes will not affect the mills of the different companies.

From all sources the strikes are said to be due to the efforts of Industrial Workers of the World.

EXPORTS TO RUSSIA ALMOST DOUBLED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—Exports to Russia from the United States during the first three years of the war will total nearly $1,000,000,000, while for the fifty years preceding the war the aggregate was a little more than half that amount, according to compilations by the National City Bank. Exports to Russia in the fiscal year 1915 were $61,000,000; in 1916, $14,000,000, and in the fiscal year 1917, which ends with the present month, $565,000,000.

War materials form the bulk of the exports to Europe in the period since the beginning of hostilities.

EMPLOYEES MUST KEEP CORNS OFF

Says they destroy efficiency but can be lifted right out now.

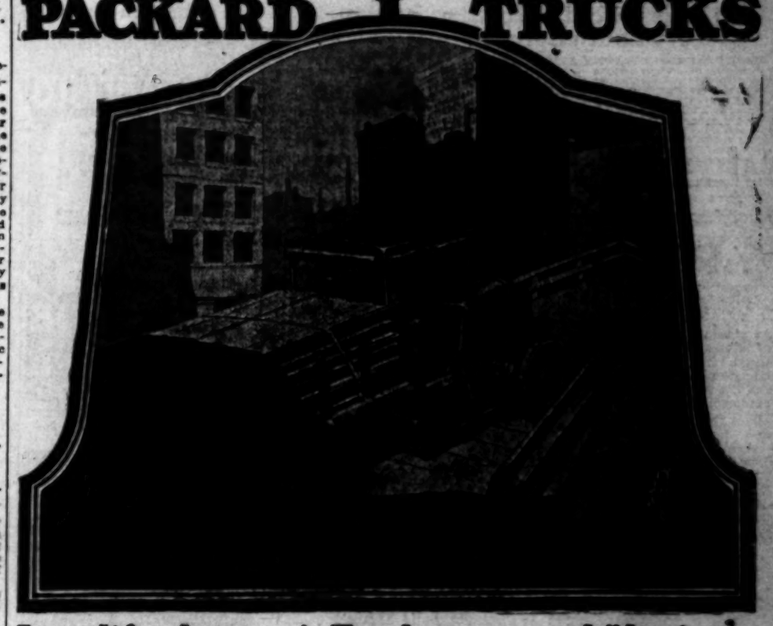
Many large retail establishments now insist that every employee have cornless feet, because one cannot appear pleasant before a patron or be fully efficient when the brain is constantly mindful of these painful pests.

The simplest method known to get relief is to apply a few drops of freezone directly upon the tender, aching corn, which promptly relieves the soreness and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out without pain.

A quarter ounce of freezone will cost very little at any drug store but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

This drug is gummy but dries in a moment and seems to just shrivel up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

This should interest many men and women here.



PACKARD TRUCKS

Long life—low cost! For the "one-truck" business endurance and economy count most

What big business demands when it buys hauling equipment—tested capacity, stamina and low operating expense—is even more vital for "the little fellow."

The smaller his truck capital, the greater his need for a Packard because he will find it the cheapest truck to own and operate.

First cost is important to the scores of nationally known concerns whose hauling has been standardized with Packard trucks. But final cost is the factor that rules decisions. Therefore they buy Packards.

Silent, chainless, four-speed units in seven sizes. The right truck for owners of thirty or three hundred units is the right truck for the man who needs only one. See Earle C. Anthony, Inc., 10th and Hope Streets, Los Angeles. Ask the man who owns one.

METAL MINE MEN PRESENT DEMANDS.

BISBEE (Ariz.) June 26.—Representatives of the local Metal Mine Workers' Industrial Union today formally presented demands of the union to copper mine operators of the Warren district. The demands, which were ignored by the operators, call for radical changes in working conditions, abolition of the physical examination, no discrimination to be shown against members of any labor organization, and a minimum flat rate of $6 per shift for underground workers and $5.50 for surface workmen.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 26.—Plans which are expected to add 1,000,000 head of sheep to the total of breeding stock and to increase the annual output of wool by 7,000,000 pounds were agreed to today by representatives of every large packing concern located here, meeting in conjunction with the National Sheep and Wool Bureau and the United States Department of Agriculture. The details of the agreement, based on the saving of ewe lambs from slaughter, are to be worked out by the packers and railroads.

MME. STEINHEIL MARRIES?

Report Noted French Woman Wedded in London.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, June 26.—Mme. De Serignac was married today in the Wesleyan Church at Roupell Park to Lord Abinger. Congratulatory messages were received from many persons, including Parisians and neighbors of the bride.

It was made known by the London papers recently that Mme. De Serignac was none other than Mme. Steinheil, whose trial in Paris in 1909 for the murder of her husband, an artist, and of her stepmother, attracted international attention. Mme. Steinheil declared the murder had been committed by masked men and was acquitted after a long trial.

WEDDED SIX TIMES, BUT NO DIVORCE?

OFFICERS INVESTIGATE LIFE OF EXETER WOMAN.

They Name Six Men as Having been Her Husbands, Including One from Los Angeles—Visalia Chief of Police is Beaten and Jailed by Subordinate.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VISALIA, June 26.—Six times married without the formality of either death or divorce from prior husbands is, officers say, the record of Mrs. Myrtle May Warren, who was arrested in Los Angeles late last week on a charge of having deserted her minor children at Exeter. Deputy Sheriff French, who is investigating the record of Mrs. Warren, declares that since 1903 Mrs. Warren has had no less than six husbands, and gives dates and places of the ceremonies. Among those she is alleged to have married are Charles Miller of Los Angeles, Frank Whiteside of Visalia, J. E. Foster of San Francisco, Granville Norris of San Bernardino and Sidney Lake of Salt Lake City. The date of her marriage to Frank A. Warren of Los Angeles, believed to be her first husband, has not been established. Foster and Norris exchanged confidences at the County Jail here this afternoon.

DIME-NOVEL DISGUISE.

C. E. Rowland, head of the Visalia police force, got a taste of his own medicine shortly after 1 o'clock this morning when he was clubbed and jailed by Officer Powell of his own force. Rowland was engaged in a little lone-hand detective work in the Chinatown district and as he darted from an alley ran into the arms of Powell. Rowland was disguised with a dime-novel negro make-up and Powell didn't like his looks. The Chief tried to explain, but Officed Powell used the implements of his trade and dragged the Chief to the jail. There he discovered the identity of his captive. Chief Rowland declared later that any further detective work will be done only after he takes all members of the force into his confidence.

Women! It's Cheap! Use Lemon Juice and Make Lotion

To keep your skin and complexion naturally soft, white and clear at all times you simply must use a lotion or cream every day. But choose the one that is best and costs the least.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable beauty lotion at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Just try this lotion! Make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant cream and massage it into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen, and bring out the hidden roses and beauty of any skin.

Your druggist will sell three ounces of orchard white at little cost, and any grocer will supply the lemons.

ROOSEVELT PROJECT RECEIPTS LARGE.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER INCOME IS SATISFACTORY.

Will Approximate Four Hundred Thousand Dollars, Most of it from the Mining Companies in the Miami District, Which Still Have Unsatisfied Needs.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 26.—It is expected that the receipts during 1917 for hydroelectric power of the Roosevelt project will approximate $400,000, most of it from the mining companies of the Miami district, which still have unsatisfied needs. This will not be entirely in cash, for there must be return of the cost of the transmission lines from Roosevelt to Miami, and more must be taken for maintenance and betterments. But enough would be left to make the first of the thirty annual payments to the government for the cost of the entire reclamation system, which aggregates $10,250,000. The first four years will have 2 per cent. assessments, which later increase to 4 and 6 per cent. per annum. Against the wishes of the Secretary of the Interior, high officials of the Reclamation Service sought to divert this power income to the general fund, but were blocked by Senator Smith in the upper house.

There seems to be no intention here of sitting down to let the power income pay the cost of the project. Instead, the farmers will continue to bear the cost of maintenance, plus the dollar an acre that must go to repayment, and will let the power income pay for construction of the $1,000,000 Verde storage dam. This will have no diversion system of its own, but merely will supplement the present supply. Later the power income will help when the annual payments on building account have doubled and trebled, while in the end it will pay all operating expenses of the project.

WANT IRRIGATION.

It is understood that the Interior Department has asked for the irrigation of 630 ten-acre tracts on which will be settled Pima and Mohave-Apache Indian farmers, filling the small reservation now partially occupied in the upper end of this valley. The government will pay the added expense and lighten the general load to that extent. The event of construction of the Verde Dam it is felt that this concession can be made here. The Indians have no aboriginal rights, having followed the white man into this valley, yet always have been considered in the distribution of water for irrigation.

Judge Joseph H. Kibbey, counsel for the Salt River Valley Water Users Association, today returned from Washington, where he has been arranging details for transfer to the association of the whole Roosevelt project, subject to the lien of the government. The Secretary of the Interior has approved a plan submitted, with modifications, that will be presented to an early meeting of the local management.

STATE INCOME.

The State of Arizona is receiving $132,000 a year from the leasing of public lands granted under the Statehood Act. Most of the money comes from stockmen, at a grazing rate of at least 3 cents an acre per annum. The gross area granted the State was 10,800,000 acres, of which, outside of school sections, already 3453 acres have been selected by the State Land Department. The work of selection is followed closely by sale to prospective settlers or by lease. The sales are under long-time payment contracts that are very popular and that have resulted in the settlement and reclamation of many thousands of acres that were, or been, considered arid and worthless. Much of this land lies along the Gila and Santa Cruz rivers, to be irrigated from the underflow.

A new town is being laid off a few miles south of Chandler, at the cost of the Goodyear Rubber Company, for the benefit of the employees of a great cotton plantation it has created in the desert. There will be a six-room schoolhouse, substantial business blocks, rows of pretty cottages and a sightly and sanitary Mexican quarter. Provision also will be made of a dancing pavilion within a park.

LOWER FREIGHT RATES FIXED.

Affects the Southern Pacific Lines to Oregon.

Federal Court Upholds Order of State Commission.

Shippers to Get a Refund on Excess Charges.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Lower freight rates on Southern Pacific lines from San Jose and San Francisco Bay points to the Oregon State line were fixed today by decision of the Federal Court, upholding the order of the State Railroad Commission of November 6 last in the Sacramento Valley rate cases. These rates will be retroactive to May 1, 1917, when the Federal court first upheld the commission's order, and all charges in excess of the lower rates fixed by the commission are to be refunded to shippers.

Decision of the Railroad Commission, now made law, reduces rates between Woodland and Tehama, but has no effect on rates between Roseville and Red Bluff. The latter rates are subnormal because of water competition in the Sacramento Valley.

Subsequent to the filing of complaints over the rates in question the tariffs were reduced from $1.17 first-class to $1.07, and further reduction in the decision today makes this rate 95 cents.

Presentation of the railroads' arguments to support their application to the State Railroad Commission for a 15 per cent. increase in intrastate freight rates will probably be concluded tomorrow, it was indicated at the conclusion of the morning session here today. Representatives of twenty of the smaller lines subtitted figures intended to show the necessity for the increase.

The commission will hear arguments of shippers against the proposed increase within two weeks. A hearing will be held in Los Angeles in addition to one here.

In summing up the plea of the various shortline railroads, E. L. Stearns, traffic manager of the Central California Traction Company, said:

"It takes a long purse to run a short line."

According to the testimony the roads are either operating at a loss or showing only 1 to 2 per cent. return on the investment.

GERMAN SPY IS FOILED AT STATE UNIVERSITY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BERKELEY, June 26.—Prompt action of two university professors prevented the theft early this morning of important government secrets by a man believed to be a German spy, who had succeeded in effecting an entrance into the chemistry building of the University of California.

The first act of the authorities will be to throw a cordon of soldiers about the buildings in which governmental research is being made under most careful precautions.

Shortly after daybreak two of the professors went to the laboratory, and, as they approached the building, they saw a man slipping from a window of the office of Prof. Joel H. Hildebrand. Under his arm was a roll of paper. The savants grappled with the man, who, young and vigorous, struggled desperately and finally threw off his would-be captors and escaped.

In the struggle he dropped his loot, which was found to be a roll of blue prints, containing plans for chemical apparatus used in carrying out certain vitally important experiments for the War Department.

RED CROSS WORKER TAKEN BY DEATH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, June 26.—Much regret has been expressed here at the death of Mrs. Sue McAbee Evans, a resident of this city for twenty-five years and a member of a family prominently connected with the early history of Redlands. She died at her home on West Clifton avenue from pneumonia. Mrs. Evans was secretary of the local Red Cross chapter and one of her colleagues paid her the following eulogy:

Since taking over the duties of this position, her whole mind and heart had been given up to this work. All her waking energies she gave unstintedly to this organization. Indeed, so loyal was her devotion, so deep-rooted her patriotic spirit, that she undoubtedly worked beyond her strength in her unselfish determination to aid to the utmost this most worthy cause. Pneumonia came quickly, her resistance was weak because of the overstraining of bodily and mental forces, and she sank an easy victim. No one who goes to war will be a more willing sacrifice to his country than was Mrs. Evans; none will more truly have died for his country than this secretary of the local Red Cross chapter, whose strength proved to be unequal to the patriotic demands she made upon it.

BALTIMORE, June 26.—Dr. Harry A. Friedenwald of this city today was re-elected unanimously president of the Federation of American Zionists, and Louis Lipsky of New York was unanimously elected chairman of the Executive Committee. Louis Robison of New York was re-elected treasurer.

To these victories the administration forces of the convention added another victory at the most exciting session of the convention. This was the adoption by the convention of a resolution offered by Judge Hugo Pam of Chicago, pledging the Zionists to adherence to the peace agreement between Zionists and anti-Zionists, pledging all Zionists' delegates that there will be in the majority at the Washington congress not to start any debate on the question of the "right to Palestine" movement and confining them to work to secure, through the congress, a maximum of Jewish rights in Palestine.

A message of congratulation upon the new freedom was sent to the Jewish students of Russia.

The Achooza, the Palestine company, organized under the laws of New York, today announced its plans. The membership dues, it was said, will aggregate $1,000,000 a year.

Mrs. Joseph Fels of Philadelphia spoke on single tax for Palestine. There is to be no land speculation in Palestine. Purchasers of land certificates who settle in the colonies must use the land for agricultural purposes. Ten per cent. of the purchase price of the certificates is to go toward the establishment of a metropolis, where alone the industrial activities of Palestine can be carried. Land purchasers will have but one vote, no matter how much land they hold.

Jewish soldiers after the present war will be invited to farm in Palestine. The holding company will be known as Zion Commonwealth, Inc.

ANNUAL MUSIC FETE.

Hollywood in Favor of Innovation Owing to Popularity of Band Concert Series Which May be Continued During Heated Season.

So popular have become the concerts at Hollywood that the managers have definitely decided to hold an annual June musical festival. It also is probable the present series will be continued once a week throughout the summer.

The Royal Italian Band has arranged fine numbers for this week and there will be numerous solo features. Constance Balfour will sing tonight, while tomorrow evening the Chopin Polish Singing Club, directed by Maj. Edward Scherman, will appear as well as Madame Wisniewska, soprano. Madame Mariska Aldrich of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company will sing Friday evening. Margaret McKee will whistle and Madame Maquit de Lindar will direct a chorus. Madame Schumann-Heink will appear July 27.

Mayor Woodman spoke last evening and Ellen Beach Yaw was the soloist, her numbers including Mrs. H. J. Whitley's "The Flag I Love," the title pages of which won a prize for Leonard Allen, a high school boy.

ACTRESS WILL FIGHT.

Mrs. Clara Kimball Young Denies Husband's Desertion Charge.

Mrs. Clara Kimball Young, the film actress, will fight the desertion charge alleged in the divorce suit filed by James Young of Hollywood some time ago. In an answer to the complaint filed yesterday she makes a general denial. She is represented by Attorney Frank P. Doherty. If her engagements permit, it is probable that she will be in court when the case is called, it is stated.

Mr. Young is inclined to place the blame for their domestic unhappiness on his wife's rise to fame in the film world. Most of their lives have been passed in New York.

Redondo Beach and Hermosa Apply to State Authorities in the Matter of Sewage Disposal by Los Angeles at the Hyperion Outfall.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
REDONDO BEACH, June 26.—Following the action of the Board of Trustees of Hermosa Beach, the Trustees of Redondo Beach, at their meeting last night, passed a resolution instructing the City Clerk to call the attention of the State Board of Health to the Hyperion nuisance, and to compel the city of Los Angeles to observe State laws relative thereto. The following letter was sent to all beach towns affected:

"The Board of Trustees of Hermosa Beach at their last meeting passed a resolution asking the State authorities to take action to compel the city of Los Angeles to abate the Hyperion nuisance. This has been urged before, of course, but since the voters of Los Angeles have voted against bonds to be used on the sewer work it seems to the board that the time has come for the beach cities to do what they can to get the State authorities actively into the matter.

"Our board directed me to write to the Attorney-General, the Governor and others, asking their assistance, and also to write to the boards of the various beach towns suffering from this offensive condition, asking them to take whatever measure they may think best to hurry up the officials."

Fraternal Brotherhood.

OUSTED SECRETARY HITS BACK AT HIS ACCUSERS.

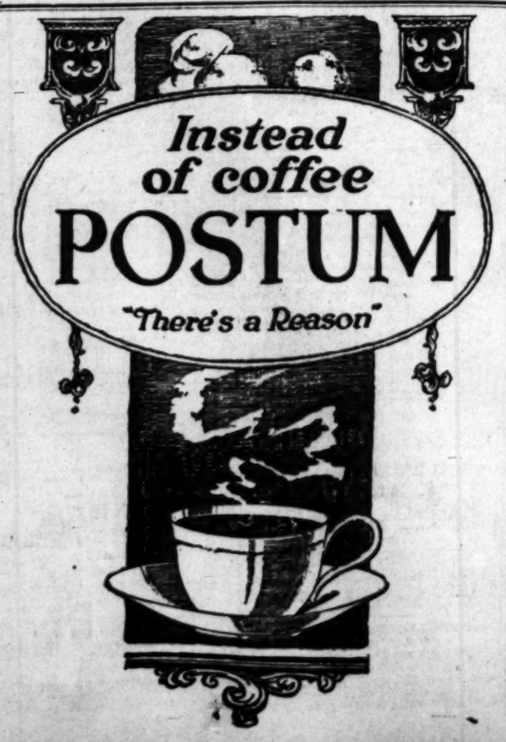
TALKING for more than six hours, Charles W. Dempster, ousted Supreme Secretary of the Fraternal Brotherhood, interested delegates to the Supreme Council at yesterday's session. Each section of the resolution which caused Mr. Dempster to lose his position was read. Attorney Gates appeared for Mr. Dempster.

The latter is making an effort to regain his seat in the Supreme Council, and many delegates are of the opinion that his fight before this convention will result in definite action one way or the other.

The executive board has taken Mr. Dempster's replies under consideration, and will make a final report probably Saturday.

Opening the session yesterday the case of Thomas Quinn versus George Hood was heard. Mr. Hood was chosen at a recent election as representative to the Supreme Lodge. The figures were so close that Mr. Quinn contested his election. However, the contest was decided in favor of Mr. Hood.

Matters of a more routine nature will be taken up at the session today, including the straightening out of affairs among the lodges of Nevada.



Policy.

NO AQUEDUCT WATER FOR THE ANTELOPE VALLEY.

SERVICE of Los Angeles aqueduct water only upon lands that become a part of the municipality, or that are in direct line for annexation, is the public policy that was again emphasized yesterday by the Public Service Commission, through its unanimous vote.

This action was brought about by the petition of the Antelope Valley Chamber of Commerce, presented through Harry Lee Martin, its president, asking that careful consideration be given to the plea for use of aqueduct water in that valley. It was proposed that the water be taken from the aqueduct at a point above Nenach, and be spread upon several thousand acres in that vicinity.

The commission denied the request, and instructed President Del Valle to so notify Mayor Woodman and the petitioners, giving the reasons therefor. President Del Valle and Chief Engineer Mulholland expressed the reasons which actuate the commission in holding to the policy that has been consistently maintained in this regard.

President Del Valle stated the original idea of the aqueduct was to bring water to Los Angeles for its use as a city, and that the terminal, therefore, must be the San Fernando Valley; that in order to act consistently on this line, no lands can be served with aqueduct water that lie above the power plants in San Franciquito Canyon, and that, as a matter of fact, there is no surplus water in the volume being brought in, the recent annexations to the city providing an acreage that will demand the supply.

Chief Engineer Mulholland stated that at present there is an excess of 15,000 inches of water used from the aqueduct, and there is every reason to expect there is more land right at hand than can be irrigated from this source.

It was announced that land for Chatsworth reservoir has been secured, and that when this basin is completed, the storage possibilities will be vastly increased, so that probably 40,000 inches of water can be served; but this must be upon lands lying below the Chatsworth and San Fernando Reservoirs.

NEFF AND KENDALL ARE HANDED DRAW DECISION.

Lightweights Rough Things for Four Rounds, with Honors Even—Cliff Jordan's Left Wins from Starr. Young Brown and Leary Put up Sensational Battle in Preliminary Event—George Moss Comes Back.

BY LEEPSON BOWNES.

CHET NEFF and Dick Kendall wrangled through a rough-tough four-round draw last night at Jack Doyle's. It was only a fair fight, but it was a good decision. Kendall leafed through three rounds and when he got to the fourth couldn't do much better than in the first three.

There was only one good, solid wallop landed in the four rounds and that was an opening greeting from Kendall's left which hit Chester in the tummy and would have gone right on through if it hadn't hit his spinal column when it reached the rear.

Cliff Jordan's good left hand and his ability to grapevine won him a decision over Starr. Jordan had a slight shade on straight punching up to the final round and then in that session he held Starr's hands with great success. Nobody seemed to care except Starr and Cliff won the decision.

Young Brown and Harry Leary put up one of the bloodiest battles in the history of the arena and the guy who shed most of the blood got the decision. Leary split Brown's lip and opened his eye, but wasn't strong enough to stand off the peppery Mexican. Brown won the decision on his aggressiveness.

Togo Korisma, a Japanese battler, won a decision over Kid Jackson. The first two rounds were poor and the last two were fine. Togolenges with reckless abandon.

had a good wallop and lots of pepper. In the final round both were so tired they could scarcely lift their hands, but the knockdowns scored by the Oriental won him a decision. He would make a good match for Young Brown, as he likes to swap wallops.

Billy Moore was an overworked young man last night. He was put on in the second bout of the evening against one Stanley McDonald of San Francisco, and when it became apparent early in the first round that there was a good chance of Stanley's returning to the Bay City in a wooden box, Jack Doyle jumped into the ring and halted the affair.

Jack then searched around and dug up an elderly person by the name of George Moss, who was a pretty fair fighter back in the old days of Uncle Tawm McCarey. George evidently has improved with age, as he poked Moore all over the ring for four rounds and won a nifty decision.

The first bout of the evening found Ted Frenchie substituted for Jimmy Henry in a bout against Kid Dillon. At the end of four rounds Mr. DiNon had a lamp on him about the size of a yearling cazaba, and there by lost the decision. It was a pretty good fight.

Herb Brodie came out in his sailor uniform and refereed a bout as a farewell before leaving for San Francisco. Just before the main event all the scrappers in Southern California met down on the bill and a few from points east and north, were introduced and hurled challenges with reckless abandon.

BEAR LAKE TROUT ARE VERY HEAVY.

Jack Lloyd knows Bear Lake as well as the lake knows him. But he had never met Alexander, the local fisher-magician. The latter, together with Clarence Conlin, E. C. Kinney and P. E. Peterson, of Cline-Cline Company, hooked a three and a half-pound trout Sunday, just as Lloyd chugged by.

"What's the weight?" sang out Lloyd.

"Five pounds," said Alexander.

Lloyd stared and shook his head. He knows Bear Lake trout as well as the trout know him. He shook his head. "Not over three and a half," he sang back. "I'll betcha a dollar."

Lloyd put up his tackle and chugged to the other boat. He stared again. The scales registered five.

"Weigh my big fish," the veteran suggested. "It's a real five-pounder."

Lloyd's trout "weighed" seven pounds. Dazed, he pulled away, while the hocus-pocus artist readjusted his scales and thought up a big ha-ha for the time when he would return Lloyd's greenback.

FISHERMEN DESERT TROUT FOR SEA GAME.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, June 26.—Fishermen of Redlands are turning their attention to deep-sea fishing for a short time, and, while most of them have not lost their love for the trout, they have found great sport in teasing the calico bass, the barracuda, albacore and tuna.

Chauncey H. Clem, Earl Finch, C. N. Archer, E. N. Nahmens, B. L. Hutchins, Bert Hatfield, L. K. Ayers, E. E. Holiday and Jacob Poundstone have returned from Catalina waters. They had a good run on albacore and brought back eighteen, but could find no bass or barracuda.

Another party of Redlands men went out from Long Beach, with better luck, for they caught six big barracuda and some fine calico bass, bringing back fourteen fish.

Judge H. T. Dewhirst, Dr. J. L. Avey, Dr. W. P. Burke and other Redlands men who have cottages at Newport for the summer are planning a long trip in a week or so. They will charter a launch and stay out until they get what they consider a fair catch for expert anglers. It will be several weeks before trout fishing is as good as it was when the warm weather set in.

MOTORBIKE MEN DO THEIR BIT.

Southern Californians who want to serve their country in a capacity which offers thrills, a real chance for service, opportunity for advancement and a chance for initiative will do well to investigate the Signal Corps Reserve, Southern California Battalion, under command of Capt. J. E. Helpling.

The battalion is divided into three companies, classified as radio, telegraph and outpost companies. The names of the first two companies describe the work of the members while the members of the outpost company are depended upon for special dispatch work, a part of the company being mounted on motorcycles.

This branch of the service is of high standing and anyone wishing further information should report at No. 914 S. Main, where a recruiting station is in operation. Seventy men are needed to fill to war strength.

DONATES WIFE TO AFFINITY.

Chicago Man Gets Ready by Asking a Divorce.

Alleged Soulmate Resident of St. Louis Suburb.

Woman is Overjoyed at Her Prospective Fortune.

[BY MONEY WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 26.—Charles R. Hamsley, No. 3812 Park avenue, loves his wife so much that he is going to give her up to an affinity. He announced today that he intended to sue for divorce as quickly as he can have an attorney prepare the papers.

Mrs. Hamsley, who is a student in the School of Natural Science and a "big sister" in the Illinois Aid Society, standing at her husband's side, called him a "big, noble-hearted man," said she regretted causing him sorrow, but would join her "soulmate" as soon as the law allowed.

The soulmate is Elwood V. Matlack, a resident of Webster Grove, suburb of St. Louis. He is married, but his wife does not look at the romance as does Mr. Hamsley. According to advices from St. Louis Mrs. Matlack created a scene when her husband walked into the house on May 14 in company with Mrs. Hamsley, and announced that he had found his affinity.

Then came a decision. It was reached by Mr. and Mrs. Hamsley and Matlack in a conference at the Hamsley home. Today Mr. and Mrs. Hamsley explained it all to a reporter.

"My heart is broken," said Mr. Hamsley, "but I love my wife too much to stand in the way of her happiness. I shall get a divorce as quickly as possible and step out of the way. Similarly, Mr. Matlack has to get a divorce, and the way will be open for my wife and the man she loves to marry."

There is nothing to say except that I am both very happy and very sad," said Mrs. Hamsley. "I am honored to have found Mr. Matlack. We love each other dearly. It seems as if our souls have been waiting for each other for ages. But I am very sorry that I must cause sorrow to my big, noble-hearted friend.

"It has been very good. He knows every detail of the case, and his experience, has great respect for Mr. Matlack. I suppose the world will blame me, but I do not care. It is simply will not understand."

Mr. and Mrs. Hamsley were married in Evansville, Ind., September 1910. Mrs. Hamsley is the daughter of Jacob Metzger, a wholesale dealer of Cincinnati. She is 39 years old and counted a beauty.

TELLS HER STORY.

[BY MONEY WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) June 26.—Mrs. Elwood B. Matlack, in her twenty-room home at Newport and Bompas avenues, Webster Grove, today told about the strange sequence of events which caused her to file her divorce petition, an injunction suit and a $50,000 damage suit against Charles V. Matlack, former secretary of the LaClede Power Company, and his "soulmate," Mrs. Charles Hamsley of Chicago, had denied their love for each other.

Matlack retired from business three years ago with a fortune and his wife estimates to be worth $1,000. He is 58 years old. Mrs. Matlack is a few years his senior.

SWEEPING DEVICE.

Consent for Ships in War Zone Has Proved Success.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ATLANTIC PORT, June 26.—A mine-sweeping device, calculated to clear up and safely bring to the surface any mines that may be in the path of ships, is now being attached to a number of ships proceeding through the waters of the war zone. One of these devices was seen on a passenger liner which arrived here today. It is attached to the bow, and when let down a wire projection extends a dozen feet on either side of the ship. If a mine is encountered it is picked up and brought to the surface at a safe distance from the vessel.

The ship to which the device was attached is on her first trip here since April, when she was compelled to seek a drydock in a British port on account of damage from a mine. The explosion, officers said, tore a big hole in her bottom and killed one member of the crew. Water-tight compartments held and the ship was able to make port without assistance.

TO HELP YOUNG GIRLS

A Mother Wants Her Letter Published.

Eaton, Ill.—"I wish you would publish this letter for the benefit of young girls. My daughter suffered greatly from female trouble with cramps, and headache, and backache most of the time. She never felt like working and it seemed as though she was sick all the time. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkman's Vegetable Compound and it has helped her in every way, in fact it has really cured her, for she no longer has periodic pains, and no more headaches or backache, and I want all young girls who suffer as she did to know about it."—MRS. ALMA MILLS, Eaton, Ill.

Another Girl's Experience

New Castle, Ind.—"From the time I was eleven years old until I was seventeen I suffered each month so I had to be in bed. I had headache, backache and such pains I would cramp double every month. I did not know what it was to be easy a minute. My health was all run down and the doctors did not do me any good. A neighbor told my mother about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it, and now I feel like a new person. I don't suffer any more and I am regular every month."—MRS. HAZEL HAMILTON, 822 South 15th St., Newcastle, Ind.

Girls who are troubled as these young women were, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE HOME SET

The purchasing power behind The Times' circulation makes this paper the supreme selling force for merchants, brokers, agents and general tradesmen, and no advertiser can get his proportionate share of business without using its columns.

For immediate and permanent relief from eczema I prescribe

Resinol

"If you want to experiment, try some of those things you talk about. But if you really want that itching stopped and your skin healed, get a jar of Resinol Ointment. We doctors have been prescribing that ever since you were a small boy, so we know what it will do."

Resinol Ointment is so nearly flesh-colored that it can be used on exposed surfaces without attracting undue attention. Sold by all druggists.

The Los Angeles Times can present your goods, and your appeal to a vast army of readers who are able to buy advertised articles, and who, on account of believing in this paper, are predisposed in favor of its advertisers.

PERSONAL—Business.

PERSONAL—AN HONEST PROPOSITION.
If you are DOUBTFUL or SKEPTICAL as to what a genuine PSYCHOPALMIST can do for you, read what this statement and MR. KEAN, M.P., will give you a thorough test of his PSYCHIC knowledge absolutely free of charge. KEAN will offer suggestions and give help to all who are in trouble and suggest something that will be of benefit to you. Scientific palmistry revealed to you your weak points, strong characteristics, future possibilities, what you are best fitted for in life, etc. Do you know that 90 per cent of the successful men and women of today in the affairs of life, such as business, love, marriage, etc., are guided periodically either through the development of their own intuitive forces or through the aid of Professional Psychics? The day of Psychic-Phenomena, as a fact, fiction and experiment has passed. The reliable psychologist of today is consulted on the material affairs and obstacles of life with the same degree of feeling and confidence that you would consult your lawyer, doctor, banker or broker. Palmistry as a science today is to the human being what the Government Weather Bureau is to the commercial and KEAN is to psychology what Edison is to electricity. Forget what you are or were, and begin to plan what you may become. This is your home, now is the time to do it. Delay is your worst enemy. When you lose your time it is gone forever. You can't regain it. Knowledge is power. Knowledge opens the door that ignorance would forever close. Life is not half so bad as some people would make you believe, do not lose hope because the day seems dark and the affairs of life are mixed. No matter how complicated your condition may be, KEAN can and will aid you. Know the truth. Know in time what to do and how to do it. KEAN points the way. KEAN'S help and assistance is yours. Be wise with KEAN. KEAN'S fee for readings are within the reach of all. KEAN can only be consulted at his residence, 3406½ South Grand ave., Los Angeles. Hours, 10 to 6 daily, closed Sundays.

For Pennsylvania Folk.

The Washington county (Pennsylvania) Society will hold a meeting tomorrow evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Guyer, No. 1425 Elsa avenue.

On La Brea Fossils.

Prof. J. Z. Gilbert will speak on "The History of the Rancho La Brea Fossil Deposits" at a meeting of the Lorquin Natural History Club Tuesday evening, July 3, in the lecture room of the public library.

Not a Divorce Action.

In an account in The Times yesterday regarding the suit filed by Mrs. Sue V. Couts against Robert L. Couts, the case was incorrectly referred to as a divorce action. It is in reality a suit for separate maintenance.

Pastor Surprised.

The congregation of the Little Church (Christian) at Fifth avenue and Dorchester street gave their pastor, Dr. W. B. Thompson, a surprise party in the church Monday night and at the close of the impromptu programme presented him with a purse of $50.

To Sales Managers.

At the meeting of the Los Angeles division of the International Sales Managers Association this evening at the Alexandria, H. C. Veach, attorney for the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company, will be the principal speaker. The subject for the evening will be "Salesmanship, as Applied to Public Service."

At Hollywood Festival.

Because Mme. Schumann-Heink has been ordered by her doctor to take a complete rest until the last of July, Mariska Aldrich will sing Friday night at the Hollywood festival for the Red Cross in place of the well-known prima donna. This festival is being staged adjoining the Hollywood Woman's Clubhouse.

Governor to Speak.

Gov. Stephens will be one of the speakers at the Red Cross benefit to be given Saturday afternoon and evening in the gardens of the home of former Mayor Henry T. Hazard, No. 245 South New Hampshire avenue, under the auspices of the Virgil Intermediate Auxiliary. Motion pictures will be shown in the evening.

That Monolith Plant.

The unsatisfactory operation of the county's lease of the city's cement plant at Monolith caused the Public Service Commission yesterday to authorize President Del Valle to appoint a committee of three to investigate the entire situation and take steps to secure an adjustment that will protect the city's interests.

Two Daughters as Well.

In a recent account of the death of Dr. C. H. Whitman, superintendent of the County Hospital, mention was made of his decedent leaving, besides the widow, a brother in Oakland and a sister in Iowa. In addition to these, Dr. Whitman leaves two daughters by his first marriage, Miss O. H. Whitman and Mrs. Margaret Elizabeth Hallanger.

The commission comes into possession of this outfit and films for $200. They will be used for advertising purposes and to aid annexation campaigns.

New Picnic Grounds.

Favorable consideration was given by the Public Service Commission yesterday to the request of the Municipal League that the commission take steps to set aside picnic grounds in San Francisquito Canyon in close proximity to power plant No. 1, and by signs and road opening to put those grounds in line for general popularity. The matter was referred to President Del Valle, with power to act.

Meeting for Canadians.

The Canadian Society will meet in The Times Assembly Rooms next Friday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon there will be an apron sale, a programme and tea, and in the evening dancing will be enjoyed. The proceeds will go for buying Christmas gifts for the men at the front, especially for those who are in the prison camps. As the gifts must be sent in September to reach the front in time for Christmas, the work is commencing early. Contributions of all sorts are sought, particularly soap, which is not furnished in the prison camps and which the soldiers especially appreciate.

NEED RECRUITS FOR REGIMENT

It Must Reach War Strength Before Draft Time.

May be Mustered Out if the Best Efforts Fail.

Call Volunteers Who Would Avoid Conscription.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 13.—According to Adj.-Gen. Harris, the conscription call upon Arizona will be independent of the number of men needed to fill the ranks of the First Arizona. His figures are that from the State will be called 4601, toward which in the State's regiment at present are only 639. Only one county, Maricopa, thus far has furnished more than 100 men to the regiment, and from this county still are due 524. Announcement is made that the regiment may be mustered out if not filled to war strength before the time of the draft, and so extraordinary efforts have been started to recruit from those who would volunteer and avoid conscription.

The adjutant-general's figures appear to be based upon an assumption that 2,000,000 men will be called to the colors outside of the regular army and navy, to which the State already has furnished about 600 men in addition to the militia. Setting the State's population at 200,000, this inclusive of Indians and aliens, from Arizona should come one soldier to every 500 called from the nation at large. Thus on the first 500,000 call this State should furnish 1000. If the National Guard enrollment is not to be credited, such action might obligate the State to furnish 2600 men more than the ordinary percentage. Nevada, with no National Guard at all, thus would start with a large handicap in her favor.

Arizona's registration for selective conscription follows: Cochise county, 6650; Maricopa, 5414; Gila, 5179; Yavapai, 3466; Greenlee, 3445; Pima, 3284; Pinal, 2980; Yuma, 1564; Navajo, 1528; Coconino, 1321; Mohave, 1058; Santa Cruz, 934; Graham, 740; Apache, 446; Penitentiary, 146; total, 36,932.

The gross number is more than 2000 above the estimate, while another 1000 may come from supplemental registrations. The net number available between the draft ages will not be more than 22,000, for of aliens, mainly Mexicans, were included 14,652; there were found 193 alien enemies; while of persons claiming exemption by reason of disability, occupation, etc., there are about 12,000.

From all counties have come assurances that the further work of the conscription programme will be carried out by the local authorities, who will in each county embrace the Sheriff, recorder and health officer.

More Trouble.

MAKES NO DEFENSE.

Principal in Two Previous Trials is Now Held to Answer in the Superior Court to a Charge of Passing a Worthless Check.

G. W. Gilbreth, former head of the Gilbreth Construction Company, and conspicuous in criminal court records as the principal in two sensational trials, was held to trial in the Superior Court yesterday on the cargo of having passed a worthless check on F. E. Corbery, a former friend.

No attempt at defense was made. Deputy District Attorney Lou Guernsey asked that bail be fixed at $1000, and Gilbreth furnished that amount.

WOULD ABANDON TRACK.

The Pacific Electric Railroad Company wants to abandon one of its tracks on Franklin avenue between Western and Cahuenga avenues. Ninety per cent of the abutting property holders object to the request. The matter was discussed by the Public Utilities Committee of the Council yesterday and was finally held up pending a report from the Utilities Commission, the committee desiring to learn why the commission favored the request. It is said the railroad company desires to abandon the track because of certain street improvements which have been ordered.

To Make Hair Wavy and Curly in One Night

Someone has made the discovery that simply applying liquid silmerine with a clean tooth brush will actually make straight hair, beautifully curly over night! The liquid, which is of course perfectly harmless, has the peculiar property of drying in pretty waves, creases and ringlets. It also serves as a splendid dressing, keeping the hair delightfully soft and glossy.

A few ounces of liquid silmerine, obtainable at any drug store, will keep the hair curly for weeks. It is neither sticky nor greasy, but quite pleasant to use. It produces a curliness which is the nearest thing to "Nature's own."

YOUNG OFFICERS ON RIFLE RANGE

RECEIVE INSTRUCTIONS IN HANDLING FIREARMS.

Throughout Next Five Weeks Batches of Men from Reserve Training Camp will Take Practice at Butts in Marin County for Five Days.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Throughout the next five weeks there always will be 350 men under the officers' reserve training camp under canvas on the government rifle range in Marin county. As a batch of men will remain for five days and then the next installment of 350 men will take their places at the butts until the entire complement of men in training sessions at the Presidio military reservation will have received instruction in the handling of firearms.

For the second period of training which commences Monday next, which continues until August 11, the personnel of the camp will be composed of Infantry, nine companies, 1400 men; field artillery, three batteries, 300 men; coast artillery, 200 men; engineers, 150 men; cavalry, 150 men.

Judged by the number of men who were anxious to be assigned to the cavalry branch of the camp, there is every evident that this was one of the popular fancy. When only 150 men were needed, nearly 400 men had designated the cavalry as their choice were assigned to other branches of service. Among the men given an opportunity to try for commissions in the regular army was Thomas Driscoll, one of the foremost polo players on the Pacific Coast.

Approximately 200 men have dropped out, for one reason or another, quit the camp since it was started a month ago. There are six graduates from the camp of demerit, under which the men are graded. These men will be assigned to duty in the regular army at once; those who pass will be assigned to duty training the officers of the national army; those who are "poor" and "deficient" will be mustered out of no more.

FINANCIAL DATA.

An increase of $326,071.53 in post-office receipts is shown for the past year. Total recipts were $2,528,-081.17. Bank clearings for the year were $1,329,059,505.08, which is an increase of more than $200,000,000 over last year. Total deposits in all banks amount to $246,057,937.1[illegible], or an increase of $43,000,000 over last year. Total savings deposits in all banks amount to $135,499,225.70, an increase of $23,000,000 in a year.

There are 150 new manufacturing concerns. During the past year sixty-five new factory buildings have been constructed. Building expenditures for these structures amount to more than $14,000,000.

Compilation of the directory began in January by R. C. Devereaux, manager of the Los Angeles Directory Company, and 100 assistants. The method of getting all figures correctly was through a division of the city into 170 districts.

The directory shows that the outskirts of the city, in every direction, are building up probably faster than any section. Not only residences, but business houses are being constructed in vast numbers. Of the fifty square miles annexed during the year, practically all the ground has been purchased for home and business sites and market improvements are noticeable in every direction.

INVITATION IS A BOOMERANG.

Berkeley Auditor Interprets it as S.O.S. Call; Local Official Denies It.

News service wires were occupied for a time yesterday in handing the retort courteous of City Auditor Myers of this city to City Auditor M. L. Hanscom of Berkeley.

An Associated Press dispatch from the university town announced Mr. Hanscom had applied for permission to accept an invitation from Mr. Myers to come here and assist in adjusting a tangle in our city book-keeping system.

Very soon thereafter an Associated Press dispatch from Los Angeles announced that Mr. Myers emphatically denied there is a tangle in the book-keeping system here or that he had invited Mr. Hanscom to assist in doing anything with a tangle.

On the contrary, said Mr. Myers, the northern auditor had been at a convention in Chicago and was invited, politely, to stop over here for a visit while homeward bound.

BOARD NAMED TO PICK LOCAL ARMY RECRUITS.

A SYSTEM for increasing regular army enlistments in Los Angeles was outlined by the County Council of Defense at the meeting in the chambers of Presiding Judge Finlayson yesterday afternoon. This is based on a list of 1400 names of well-known men of Los Angeles, who will submit the names of men eligible for enlistment. The Defense Council will at once furnish this list of 1400 sponsors to Lieut.-Col. W. E. Purviance in charge of the recruiting station in the San Fernando Building, Fourth and Main streets.

President Wilson's appeal for 70,000 additional men this week for the army means that several hundred are needed from Los Angeles. While the drive is just now getting under full headway, the results so far attained are not up to expectations.

Lieut.-Col. Purviance said last evening:

"We have had but seventeen enlistments in the first two days. We hope, however, to make each day's showing from now on, record an increase. The men are here and we are doing our utmost to bring them into the service."

The present drive is not for the National Guard or Army Reserve. It is for the regular army and it is urgently desired that every man who considers enlisting, should call at recruiting headquarters at once and receive full information.

As a result of the opportunities offered by Maj. C. S. Manchester of the Canadian Expeditionary forces, and Capt. H. G. Scharschmidt of the British Royal Engineers, twenty-five Englishmen enlisted in the British and Canadian armies at the United States Army recruiting station yesterday. A majority passed the physical examinations and will be sent immediately to British army posts for training.

Maj. Manchester and Capt. Scharschmidt are in Los Angeles recruiting British subjects for their armies. A number enlisted Monday afternoon, while more are coming in and are being enlisted as fast as possible. All expenses will be paid, according to the officers.

Maj. Manchester left yesterday for points in Northern California to complete some recruiting work. He will probably not return to this city. Capt. Scharschmidt will leave today for San Diego to get recruits but will return within a few days. He expects to remain in this city probably a week after his return.

Oil Company's Directors Wait for Semi-annual Earnings Record.

Directors of the Union Oil Company decided at a meeting at Oleum yesterday to postpone the declaration of a dividend for the second quarter of the year until after the semi-annual statement of earnings is issued, which will be on or shortly after next Saturday. Nothing was said by any of the directors after the meeting as to the intentions of the board in the matter of dividends.

The United Petroleum Company, one of the pyramid companies through which control of Union Oil was held, was formally dissolved at the meeting held yesterday. The directors also voted a subscription of $30,000 to the Red Cross fund.

REAPER BECKONS MRS. GEORGE DRAKE RUDDY.

AFTER suffering a year from a throat malady that baffled her physicians, Mrs. Ella Giles Ruddy, prominent club woman and writer, passed away early yesterday morning at her residence, No. 241 North Western avenue, on the third anniversary of the death of her husband, the late George Drake Ruddy.

It was while visiting her sister, Mrs. Robe Dow, in Stoughton, Wis., last summer, that Mrs. Ruddy became ill. Her health declined so rapidly that she returned to Los Angeles shortly afterwards and last fall went to Arizona in the hope of regaining her strength. Failing there also, she came back to Los Angeles and went to a hospital, where she remained until the arrival of Mrs. Dow in February. Then she was taken to her own home. She had been confined to her bed since early in January.

Mrs. Ruddy had lived in Los Angeles twenty-one years and during that time had become identified with club work and woman's suffrage. She founded and was president of the Political Equality Club, which was the precursor of the suffrage movement, which ended so successfully in California. She was a member of the Ebell Club, the Friday Morning Club, the Woman's Press Club, Woman's City Club and the Severance Club. She was a member of one of the boards of the Woman's City Club and at one time was president of the Press Club.

A writer of verses and magazine articles, Mrs. Ruddy was a classmate and chum of Ella Wheeler Wilcox at the University of Wisconsin, where they graduated in the same class. During Mrs. Wilcox's visit in Los Angeles she was constantly at the bedside of her girlhood chum.

The funeral services will be conducted Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the Los Angeles Crematory and will be private. Mrs. Ruddy leaves only one sister, Mrs. Dow, who was with her when the end came.

IN LAST SLEEP.

Mrs. Cornelia Hemenway, wife of Walter G. Hemenway, the photographer, died yesterday at their home, No. 734 Valencia street. She was in her forty-third year, and had been a resident of Los Angeles for many years. The funeral will be private.

PLEASURE RESORT TO BE BUILT AT WHITE POINT.

A SYNDICATE of Los Angeles capitalists is this week negotiating with Ramon D. Sepulveda for the purchase of ten acres at White Point, for the purpose of establishing a health and pleasure resort. The plans include the erection of a breakwater from a spot directly below the point, and the building of a hotel, pavilion, bathhouse and other places of amusement.

It is the plan of the syndicate to utilize the sulphur spring located a short distance from the point, a government chemist having recently analyzed the water and found an exceptionally large percentage of iron, sulphur and magnesia.

Mr. Sepulveda has been the owner of White Point for many years and has planted many trees and otherwise beautified the grounds. It has been a favorite spot for picnic parties and there has been an unusual number of visitors there since the county completed the road from Point Fermin to White Point, a distance of about two miles.

"The syndicate expects to expend no less than $200,000 in erecting buildings, both on the water's edge and on the bluff," said Mr. Sepulveda today. "One of the most important features of the plan is the erection of a breakwater so that surf bathing will be popular."

INSANITY PROCEEDINGS AGAINST MRS. TEDFORD.

THE affairs of Dr. Sarah J. Tedford of this city took another turn yesterday when an application was made at San Diego by Mrs. Margaret Cottrell, her twin sister, to have Mrs. Tedford committed to an insane asylum. The affidavit of insanity was gotten out by Dist.-Atty. Marsh and the examination of Mrs. Tedford will be held Saturday morning in the court of Judge T. L. Lewis.

Mrs. Tedford is now in the County Jail there, charged with having forged a will purporting to be that of her brother, Horatio N. Thomson, who died at San Diego in 1914. She has appeared in the courts of the State almost constantly for the past ten years, in litigation about other estates of various relatives.

The probating of the alleged forged will of Mr. Thomson is contested by Reginald Williams and A. L. Barnes, administrator of the estate of Gladys Barnes, a niece of Mr. Thomson, on the grounds it is a forgery, that signatures of the alleged witnesses of the will are fictitious and that Mr. Thomson was incompetent to make a will for many months before he died.

The hearing of the contest of the probate is set for this morning in Judge C. N. Andrews's court. Should Mrs. Tedford be adjudged insane Saturday, the charge of forgery will be dropped.

The Thomson estate is valued at $47,000 and is largely property about San Diego.

Mrs. Tedford is under $2500 bond and is unable to furnish it. She says she has many influential friends who would put it up if she would ask them, but that she prefers to remain in jail rather than have them do so.

The prisoner, who is 70 years old, contentedly knits or reads in jail while awaiting her trial, when she says she expects to prove her claims.

CITY EMPLOYEE IS UNDER FIRE.

Grand Jury Investigation of Money Transactions of a Deputy Rumored.

Rumors of a grand jury investigation of the conduct of an employee of the city against whom there is suspicion of improper acts in connection with city finances were circulated at the City Hall yesterday. It is said the matter has been under investigation several weeks.

The official involved is said to be a deputy and the charge is to the effect that he has improperly employed the influence of his position to secure money. That he has been working in conjunction with an "outside" agent is reported.

Young Society Men Face Jail as Draft Dodgers.

Many More are Caught in the Government's Nets.

Seven Alleged Slackers are Formally Indicted.

The unpatriotic portion of the Los Angeles jeunesse doree will get something of a jolt this morning with the publication of the information officially given out at the Federal Building, yesterday, that the government's list of local slackers includes the names of a number of well-known young society men of draft age who for some reason failed to register.

No favorites are to be played and unless the names of these golf and bridge experts appear on the registration rolls within a very short time their owners will find themselves in the County Jail along with the jitney-bus drivers, Mexicans and others charged with evading the draft law.

SEVEN INDICTED.

The Federal grand jury yesterday afternoon furnished a sample of the indictments that are to be handed out to slackers. There were seven charged with trying to evade conscription, and of the number five were from Fresno—Jesus Hernandez A. M. Johnson, W. R. Ranger Juan Modena and Manuel Cova. Jesus Rincon of San Gabriel who, it was alleged, was trying to make trouble among the Mexicans in the San Gabriel Valley, was named as was also Vincente Carillo, whose address is Los Angeles. The bond in each case was fixed at $5000. It is expected that the indicted men will be arraigned in the United States District Court this morning.

There was another round-up of slackers, alleged and otherwise, on Uncle Sam's ranch yesterday. They were driven into the corral, and will be thrown and branded as soon as Assistant United States District Attorney Lawson and United States Commissioner Hammack can heat the irons. This accomplished they will be given the liberty of the range until the bugle blows some time this fall.

The city police made a descent upon the Mexican section of the city, and when the drive was completed, the following names were found in the herd book: Julius Cota, Pedro Rogers, Reyes Marimontes, Philip

COME ON NOW, YOU SLACKERS!

Every Arrest Means Money in Pocket of Federal Commissioner.

United States Commissioner Hammack doesn't care how many are arrested for slacking, as he works on fees entirely, and his earnings last Thursday in the draft-dodger drive amounted to the snug little sum of $175.

As each alleged slacker is arrested he is arraigned before the commissioner, who either holds him in bond for the Federal grand jury or releases him in case the evidence does not substantiate the charge of shirking his patriotic duty.

As arraignments have been many lately, Mr. Hammack's "pickings" have been of the plutocratic kind, and he is seriously thinking of installing a cash register to take the place of the thonged affair that he carries in his left-hand pants pocket.

Letter Carrier Arrested During Morning on Mail Theft Charge Confesses at Noon, Officials Say, and is Indicted Three Hours Later.

Suspicion entertained by officials of the Security Trust and Savings Bank that somebody was tampering with the institution's mail resulted in the arrest on a charge of embezzlement of Walter L. Morgan, who for the past six years has been a letter carrier out of Station C, on South Los Angeles street.

Morgan confessed his fault, it is alleged, and in his possession were found four letters addressed to the Security Trust and Savings Bank and $20.50 in cash. This, it is alleged, he took from the letters.

Quick time was made in the disposition of Morgan's case by the Federal authorities. He was arrested by Postoffice Inspectors Ranger, Webster and Cookson at 7:30 a.m., made a complete confession, it is claimed, at 12:30 p.m., and at 3:30 p.m. the Federal grand jury returned an indictment against him.

THE ARGUMENTS IN NEWBY TRIAL

Altering of Public Records the Theme of Lawyers.

Newby's Act Scored by the Counsel for Defense.

Newby Made a Hero by an Orator on His Side.

In the third trial of the libel suit of Attorney Nathan Newby against The Times, yesterday, both sessions of the court were consumed by the arguments of counsel.

Attorney Palmer opened for the plaintiff. In discussing the altering of the record on the judgment book of the County Clerk, July 24, 1909, Attorney Palmer described this violation of the Penal Code as a heroic act on Newby's part in behalf of his client—as commendable as would be the deed of a father who should shoot a brute about to rape his daughter.

Attorney Le Roy Edwards opened for the defense. He characterized the suit as the attempt of a sharp lawyer to get some easy money and declared that it had not been shown that Attorney Newby had been injured in the least by anything The Times had printed. Attorney Edwards declared that Newby had committed a felony when he caused the record on the judgment book to be mutilated—and Newby had admitted under oath that he did this thing. The Times told the truth about Newby's offense and gave fully his own version of it, and all the references in The Times' columns afterward were justified by the facts. Mr. Edwards took up the articles in The Times, one by one, and showed how fair they were. He urged that there was nothing in the cartoon complained of but a reference to Newby's offense in changing the court records, emphatically averred that it did not hurt Newby a particle and said that Newby would be a hypocrite indeed if he would take money from The Times for damages The Times had not done him.

Attorney George J. Denis closed for the defense. He pointed out that this whole case centered upon the violation of law by the plaintiff, Newby, when on the 24th day of July, 1909, Newby caused to be mutilated the record of the Mahew case in the judgment book of the county. Mr. Denis explained why the sanctity of the public records is insisted upon by the law, which makes it a penal offense to alter or mutilate them. He gave Newby the full benefit of his explanation that he did it to prevent his client from being victimized; but said that Newby, as a lawyer, knew that he should have asked the court for an order to change the record (as he subsequently did) instead of taking the law in his own hands, in his anger. This was the gist and the sting of the alleged libel—Newby's own offense, to which he had testified in court, and it was ridiculous to say that The Times should be punished for telling the truth about it. If The Times was guilty of technical libel in publishing the cartoon, it did not damage Newby one cent, for Newby himself had testified that his law business had steadily grown since the publication. Mr. Denis vigorously denounced the attempt to make money out of such a grievance. He asserted that one dollar would be ample compensation for any damage Mr. Newby had sustained.

Attorney E. A. Meserve closed for the plaintiff.

TAX SALE HALTED.

Judge Grants Injunction to Group of Corporations that Refused to Pay Flood Control Levy. Court's Restraining Order Temporary.

The delinquent tax sale of property, advertised by the county for 10 o'clock this morning, and based on failure to pay taxes levied for the Los Angeles flood control district by a number of corporations, has been halted by an order of the court. Judge Jackson yesterday, after argument, granted a temporary injunction to the Los Angeles Gas and Electric, Pacific Electric, Santa Fe, Salt Lake, Southern Counties Gas and Economic Gas, restraining the county from proceeding with the sale.

The corporations deposited with the County Treasurer an aggregate of $10,000, representing the amount of the taxes levied against the operative properties. It was contended by the corporations that the levy is illegal, inasmuch as the corporations have already paid the State and the county tax is double taxation.

The county contended, through County Counsel Hill and Deputy County Counsel Reppy, that it is a legal assessment and not a taxation, and therefore should be paid. The injunction will remain in force until the trial of the suits brought by the various corporations against the Board of Supervisors and the Los Angeles flood control district.

CLOSED ON SATURDAYS.

Vogue's Store Inaugurates Movement to Benefit Employees.

Since its opening, a marked example of progressive mercantile practice has been the policy at Vogue's store.

Following the rule of the best stores, where absolute justice for both the buyer and seller obtains, the management also injected other qualities into the business that have won for the store many new customers who came, saw and were pleased, and now another idea is to be inaugurated.

During July and August the store will be closed all day Saturday, which will give its employees two full days of recreation. During those months, therefore, Vogue's patrons must needs do their shopping on a Friday.

TOY WAGON STOLEN.

Somebody yesterday stole an "Irish Mail" from "Noah's Ark," at No. 645 West First street. The vehicle, which is rubber-tired and equipped with all the paraphernalia that goes to make the heart of a child glad, was taken early yesterday. The theft was reported to the police.

ONE BAD MARK SPELLS PRISON.

Twelve-year-term Unless Lad Shows Spotless Record at Reformatory.

One black mark against Manuel McKnight during the next year will cost him his liberty for twelve years.

He was made his own judge yesterday by Superior Judge McCormick after he had confessed burglarising a barn in Compton. Because he is only 20 years old the court sent him to the Preston School of Industry for one year.

"If, at the end of the year you have not a single black mark against you, you shall be placed on probation," Judge McCormick said. "But if there is a mark against you, even one mark, you shall be sent to prison for twelve years. It seems to me no one ever was offered a greater reward for being good. You can be the judge of whether or not it is worth while."

Plan Raids.

The excuses they gave for not registering were numerous if not illuminating. Several claimed they were too young, but had no records; others had registered, but had lost their cards; still others were willing to register. Two had seen service with Villa's army in Mexico, and were accustomed to war. They were ready to be drafted if the government would furnish the gun and blanket. They were all held for further investigation.

The case of the harbor twins, Edward and Jesse Kopp was presented in United States Commissioner Hammack's court yesterday, in the shape of an old German Testament furnished by Otto Kopp, the father. The chronological pages of the sacred volume recited the fact that the boys were born on December 6, 1896, twins. He has one son, his eldest child, Harry Kopp, in the army, and the old man is employed on the government work at Fort MacArthur. The twins are similarly employed.

NOT TWINS, HE SAYS.

Federal Officer Box of Los Angeles Harbor, who collected the evidence in the case of the twins, claims that they are not twins at all, but that Edward Kopp is 23 years of age, and Jesse is 21. Neighborhood talk has had much to do with the arrest of the Kopp boys. They will be held to the Federal grand jury.

Paul Gerlach, a German boy employed at a printing establishment, was taken into custody yesterday by Special Agent Boden, of the Department of Justice, on the charge of evading conscription. Gerlach admitted, it is claimed, that he has not registered, but asserts that he does not believe in war. He will be held to the grand jury.

The investigation of the numerous slackers whose cases require attention at the hands of the Federal grand jury, will be taken up in earnest by that body Friday, next. The preliminaries of what promises to be a long-drawn-out task was begun yesterday afternoon, but only the foundation laid for future inquiries.

It is the intention of the authorities to push to the utmost limit the prosecution of those charged with seeking to evade registration. There are a dozen or more instances where indictments will no doubt be returned. Where the slackers indicate a willingness to register they will be allowed to do so. Whether they will be further held to answer the draft depends on the circumstances in each individual case.

BEARING FRUIT.

The work of Frank Palomares, State immigration agent, among the Mexicans in the vicinity of the Santa Ana, San Gabriel and Anaheim, is already bearing fruit, for scores of Mexicans are registering. Just as soon as they understood the law results have shown that they had no disposition to avoid their plain duty. The manner in which they have responded to the patriotic call shows a much better disposition than among the better educated Americans in certain sections.

A warrant for the arrest of William Adler, who is stated to be well connected, and a "John Doe" warrant for the apprehension of an itinerant at Santa Barbara, were issued yesterday.

BAD COMBINATION.

Harbor Character Earns Three Months in County Jail for Selling Whisky to Soldier in Uniform — Judge Castigates Liquor Runner.

"Poor whisky and a good soldier make a bad combination," said United States District Judge Bledsoe yesterday when he sentenced Fred Bernard, a water front man of the harbor district, to three months in the County Jail for selling liquor to George Reimer, a United States soldier in uniform.

Bernard had pleaded guilty to the charge, but claimed he know nothing about the enactment of the recent law on that subject. Officer Box, who made the arrest, declared that Bernard was a well-known bootlegging character, and that a week before his arrest on the present charge he had caught Bernard buying a basket of whisky containing six half-pints. These, he charged, were later on delivered to soldiers on duty there.

"We have about 500 soldiers and marines on duty at that port, and you have no idea what trouble we have trying to keep liquor away from them," said Mr. Box.

PATROLMAN A PATRIOT.

Officer J. J. Bernascoin, for two years a member of the police department, has been granted a leave of absence by Chief Butler that he might enlist in the marines. Bernascoin was one of the men picked because of special ability, and was assigned to the "river bed squad." He has a record of several thousand arrests for vagrancy to his credit.

ASKS FUNDS TO FINANCE CAMP.

Mayor Proposes that County Appropriate a Third.

And Make Cantonment Item a Part of the Budget.

Important Meeting Today to Further Campaign.

In an interview with Supervisors Dodge and McClellan and Chairman Hamilton yesterday, Mayor Woodman formally proposed to the board that it provide in the budget an appropriation of $50,000 as the county's part of the sum to finance the proposed army cantonment at Centinela. The Mayor stated a like sum would be provided by the city and another by the business interests.

The Supervisors regarded the proposition favorably, but before agreeing to incorporate the amount in the budget they wanted an opinion from the County Counsel as to the legality of the act. County Counsel Hill was asked to inform the board. Upon receipt of the opinion the Mayor will be notified.

Members of the Taxpayers' Association similarly waited on Supervisor Woodley of the finance department, and asked that the board not levy more than 5 per cent. over the taxes of the preceding year. The new law requires that the levy shall not be increased over the preceding levy 5 per cent. Mr. Woodley is anxious to have the budget in shape to present to the board tomorrow. In considering the many items of which it is composed, the $50,000 asked for by Mayor Woodman and the proposed increase in the salaries of the county employees are new items requiring attention.

To discuss the situation further a meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce directors' room, to which a score of prominent citizens were invited.

The meeting was made necessary because of the fact that Gen. Liggett assured President Sale of the chamber and Mayor Woodman that he must have a definite proposition submitted to him by a week from today.

At the meeting it developed that the city and county will be able to assist in raising part of the money required to pay the necessary rental of the 11,000 acres before the Centinela tract can be turned over to the government.

Every one present expressed the hope that the Chamber of Commerce will be able to organize a campaign for raising the balance of the required amount. The total amount required for the cantonment is $185,000 a year. Outside cities which will benefit by the establishment of a cantonment will be asked to contribute their share.

Nothing definite was accomplished at the meeting, but there will be another one today at which members of the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and the Realty Board hope to obtain definite assurance that Los Angeles will be able to guarantee what the government requires before Gen. Liggett will be in a position to recommend the site.

If the site is accepted it will mean 30,000 troops near Los Angeles in additional to the thousands of national guardsmen who will be camped at Linda Vista near San Diego.

Witness in Snively-"Record" Libel Suit in Contempt.

Hushed on Stand, Woman Talks Out Anyway.

Judge Frees Her Only After Profuse Explaining.

Mrs. Alice Christy was a witness in the $150,000 libel suit of former Chief of Police C. E. Snively against the Record Publishing Company yesterday afternoon. She was called by the Record, having failed to appear at the morning session. As she had had some trouble with the police, growing out of difficulties with a neighbor, Mrs. Christy was inclined to be rather sensitive. Several questions asked by Attorney Perry for the Record were objected to by Attorney Morgan, counsel for Mr. Snively, the objections being sustained by Judge Wilbur.

Mrs. Christy was excused and as she left the stand, passing in front of the jury, she exclaimed in an audible voice:

"The police can do as they please!"

Immediately, Mrs. Christy was in trouble. She was detained in the courtroom and a deputy public defender sent for. Subsequently, in the presence of the jury, she was brought before the court. Deputy Public Defender Aggeler represented her, explaining to the court that the Christys were not in very good circumstances, that she had trouble with the police, did not intend to be contemptuous and did not realize the offense she had committed.

In her own behalf she stated she had never been a witness in a court except in her own case, which was called in the Police Court.

"The reason I said it was because I got the worst of it. So, judge, I really did not know I was saying anything out of the way," she said.

The jurors told the court the remark did not prejudice them, and in view of her circumstances and the absence of intent to bias the jury, Judge Wilbur dismissed the contempt charge and released her.

DENIES WRIT.

Claiming that he was not a member of the Keene Butter Company or that he was a party to the action brought against the company, Albert Keene sought to regain his liberty by a writ of habeas corpus. The writ was heard and denied by Judge Jackson yesterday. The suit was an action by the Coachella Creamery Company to recover the value of butter sold and delivered. It was claimed that Mr. Keene was planning to leave the State.

THREE PETITIONS.

There are now three petitions involving the probate of the wills of the late Josiah C. Peabody. John Kearney filed an amended petition yesterday. He claims to be a beneficiary in the will alleged to have been lost. Mrs. MMary E. Peabody, the widow, want one of the wills probated under which she is the sole legatee of the $12,000 estate. W. L. Price is a beneficiary in the sum of $5000 in the alleged lost will.

Surprise Party for Graduate.

Mrs. J. B. Moreland entertained a group of merry young girls Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Moreland of No. 1763 Buckingham road in honor of her grand-daughter, Harriet Moreland, who has just graduated from the eighth grade of grammar school and will enter Los Angeles High School in September. The guests were the girls who had graduated with Miss Harriet, and such a jolly time as they had! The rooms were all decorated with yellow and white flowers—yellow and white being the class colors and the table was centered in a huge bowl of yellow roses and Japanese lilies. Singing, dancing and games occupied the afternoon, and refreshments were served at 4 o'clock. Eighteen guests were invited to the party.

The bride was gowned in silver cloth with a long veil caught back with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Hazel Good of Pasadena, as maid of honor, who wore pink silk with a picture hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Pearl Ott and Miss Jessie Ott of Pasadena and Miss Effie Marten, of Kingsburg, sister of the groom. PRIZE NUMBERS HEARD.

MATINEE MUSICAL CONTEST COMPOSITIONS.

By Edwin Schallert.

For the past several years the Matinee Musical Club of this city has made it a custom to hold a prize contest, open to musicians in this locality, at the end of every season. Last night at the Little Theater ballroom they held the hearing for the prize-winning compositions this year, the most pretentious affair of the kind they have given, in view of the fact that the awards were for three different types of music. These were chamber music, a chorus for women's voices and solo compositions. The winners of the contest in the various forms, as mentioned, were Morton F. Mason, Julius Kranz and Hague Kinsey.

Having myself been one of the judges in the contest, it would ill behoove me to disagree with myself or the other judges as to the awards, and it would be unnecessary for me to agree with myself or them, as I have ostensibly done that already.

Let it suffice to say that Mr. Mason's chamber music composition, a quartette in D minor, revealed this composer's ability at musical expression, at least in the first and last movements to a degree that rivals his previous worthy and finished efforts. The last movement in particular has an excellent swing. It was played by the Symphony String Quartette, composed by Arthur Perry, Sidney Peck, Phil Cohn and Earl Bright.

The prize composition by Julius Kranz was "Life's Hour," a work pleasing in idea and outline. It was given by members of the Lyric Club, Mr. Kranz himself playing a violin obbligato. The composition has warmth and sweetness that made a strong appeal to the audience.

Mr. Kinsey's cavatina for violin and piano, played by Josef Rosenfeld and the composer is a well-moulded composition, particularly acceptable as to its form, and with a lingering charm of melody.

Other numbers on the programme, including those receiving honorable mention, were as follows:

Quartette in G Minor (Natalie Bigelow,) played by string quartette composed of Bessie Fuhrer, first violin; Sadie Stanford, second violin; Natalie Bigelow, viola; Elsie Fuhrer Duquet, cello. Songs, "Birth of Day," "The Song that I Came to Sing" (H. E. Earle,) sung by Miss Grace James, composer accompanying. Song, "Carry On" (Eleanor D. Workman,) sung by O. E. Goerz, composer accompanying. Song, "Ave Maria" (honorable mention) (Frank H. Colby,) sung by Antoinette Ballade.

The chief fault with several of the selections was their unnecessary length and too frequent repetition of idea. The blue pencil can be used very effectively in these instances.

Thomas Taylor Drill gave an address of welcome at the beginning of the programme, which was given under the general direction of Mrs. James Henry Ballagh, president of the club.

Fingering Finery.

ON THE RADIANT RIALTO

IN AND OUT OF OUR BRILLIANT MARTS OF FASHION.

By Olive Gray.

Now is the time to buy:

Furniture, either by the single piece, to give an air of renewal to your home, or to complete the comfort of the summer cottage. Rare opportunities offer just now for furniture, since clearance sales are going on.

Basement bargains. The houses which possess these substores are making a specialty at present of wonderful offerings therein, and that many appreciate them is testified by the crowds which throng there.

Cretonne shades in place of the usual ones. These, substituted for the heavier ones, lend a summery air to the home. When cut in fancy shapes at the lower edge and finished with fringe, they dress the windows well and seem to make the rooms more cool and especially pretty when the cretonne is in a floral pattern.

As I was saying, these are the days for taking it easy while downtown. Instead of racing around as if your life depended upon getting everything done at once, Stop! Look! Listen and lunch or tea! A few half-hours thus invested in some truly restful spot is well expended and will give returns in calmness of mind and in unfatigued body. I thought, as we sipped iced coffee (in place of hot tea) at that beloved top-floor tea-ery, among the brace of shops, how much good such a place as that can distribute in the way of that peace which comes only from some such center. Is it not amazing how some places seem to instantly imbue one with carefree-dom and a reinforcement for whatever may come? Of course, there must always be, back of such a center, the personality which endows it. That cool, gray tearoom, with its touch of Chinese vermilion—one of the few bright colors that seem cool—is a real boon at all times. I nearly forgot to tell you about the ice coffee, which is the most wonderful beverage ever brewed, I truly believe. Even if you had thought yourself not specially fond of iced coffee, that brew will convince you. In the first place, of course, the coffee is of that fine kind which is the reason for the cool, gray room. Then it is made freshly for each service and is poured directly upon the ice. That is the secret! Most persons use, in making that cool, brown drink, coffee which has been made at some other time; but freshly made is as much finer than when allowed to become stale as hot coffee is better when fresh. If you have not found that place and that iced coffee guest it up and try it. The cost is so little that it will surprise you as much as will the delicious quality of the drink, for it is not a place in which to make money, but only for the purpose of showing you how to be happy if properly tead, coffeed, flavored and spiced.

Knitty Kitts.

Bags, bundles and bottles have been devised for knit kitts and many are useful and some pretty, but never have I seen anything so obviously born for the very purpose as those quaint, roundish, oblongish, shut-upish, open-outish, adorable little baskets! Of light, closely woven mesh in finest straw, the baskets themselves are the kind that give you the must-have feeling the moment you lay eyes on them. Then that giftie, shoppish girl who always gives to everything which comes her way a touch of so-differentness, has added tassels, dangles and beady things in the very places where they should be and none other, until you are convinced that if you are not a knitter you should invent for one of those knit kitts some other use—any use, in fact, any excuse, so that you may have one.

Muffs It.

She is a very wooden sort of person and even though her dress is summery in color and her bonnet flowery, she persists in carrying a huge muff, even on the Fourth of July! That the muff is a ball of twine may be some excuse. She is one of those vogueish woodies who have found so much popularity owing to their very vogueishness and also that they are of use in the world.

* * *

Taken Literally.

The mode of the chemise dress was taken seriously by a girl whom I met the other day. It was one of those warm days, and really, I scarcely blamed her for coming downtown in her chemise! She had purchased one of those lovely lingerie envelopes, with hand embroidery and lace adorning the yoke, and she was wearing it outside her skirt! She had added, of course, a set of sleeves, and really, you'd be surprised to know how pretty, dainty and cool the garment looked.

Bamboo for Birds.

I suppose birds must appreciate having cool houses in warm weather. At least, I would think so, and that is why those Japanese cages of fine bamboo are so popular. I saw some most unusual ones in a small shop where the unusual in basketry things is often found.

Bead Bags Poetic.

"Doesn't that make you think of cool, shadowy forests and all sorts of fairy things and flowers, ferns, grasses all gathered up in a big armful, while you dream and wander and forget all things practical and boring?" Thus did Josephine wax poetic over those new beaded bags which had just arrived from Paris. She held them up before my spell-bound gaze, and what she had not thought to say about them I added of my own accord. The girl behind the counter, however, would not allow that the bags would obliterate the practical, and she called our attention to the fact that they were capacious and quite handsome, but we cared mainly for their beauty, and so we raved on, disdaining to even ask for prices.

* * *

Drink an Apple a Day!

And send the cores abroad! But there "ain't goin' t' be no core!" Not when you drink that new apple juice. It is just as though some fairy had hugged the very life out of rich, ripe, rosy-cheeked appies, and had passed the quintessence of those apples to you in a clear glass. So delectable, so lip-smackey is that new drink that you want more and more! And when you recall the maxim: "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," you feel like imbibing so many appies that all the doctors in the world will be a kept at long distance, forever.

Valuable Instruction.

"Say, but the book sent out by that store, is filled with valuable information about babies and their needs!" said a young father to me recently. He referred to the baby book compiled by that store not seventh in popularity and sent, gratuitously, to all newly-parents.

The Mode's Conscription.

The beaded bag in bright colors makes a delightful bit of contrast to a somber dress.

There is no prettier afternoon frock than one of gray serge embroidered in gray.

The dark blue serge dress has a wide, fluttering sash of dark blue mousseline de sole.

A cross-saddle riding habit must be more perfectly tailored, if anything, than any of the others.

The big tulle hats are enchanting for receptions, and one of the prettiest is of black silk with a crown of silver lace.

There is a novel fashion of cutting the waist long, reaching below the hips and seemingly buttoning the skirt to the waist.

The most charming of all clothes for tiny girls are fine little smocks of handkerchief linen with smocking on front and sleeves.

Some summer hats are made of satin.

Wooden jewelry is a fad in Paris.

Veils are very much ornamented.

Lacquered flowers are the latest.

Bathing suits are made of soft rubber.

WINS HIGHEST AWARD.

Hybrid Tea Propagated by Local Nursery Concern Captures First Prize at Annual Show of the Pacific Northwest Rose Society.

Word that the famous rose hybrid tea "Los Angeles" has been awarded first prize, as the finest rose introduced since 1911, at the annual show of the Pacific Northwest Rose Society in Seattle, was received here yesterday by Howard & Smith, who propagated the rose and placed it on the market.

The rose "Los Angeles" was exhibited by C. A. Reynolds, a prominent attorney and grower of fine flowers of Seattle. He is said to have the finest collection of roses in the Northwest.

Prizes and ribbons have been captured by this beautiful rose at many shows. It was first shown and admired by thousands of visitors to the San Francisco fair in 1915. The brilliant blending of colors attracted immediate attention in a large garden of fine roses. Later the rose "Los Angeles" captured the grand prize at the Panama-Pacific International Exhibition, and since then it has won fame and honor for its originators and the city which gave it birth and name.

CHAPLIN'S JAZZ KING.

HART SOON TO BE ON THE MAP IN EARNEST.

It's something to have even a cigar or a street named after you, but when it comes to a whole town, dear me, it places one right up in a class with Messrs. George Washington and Thomas Edison.

Probably William S. Hart is the first picture actor to have this honor bestowed upon him. In recognition of Hart's popularity as a screen actor and his prominence throughout the country as the foremost exponent of western productions, the Triangle film corporation will change the name of its 1800-acre plant in the Santa Monica Mountains, from Inceville to Hartville, and will dedicate the film community there in honor of Hart, at an informal ceremony to be presided over by the Triangle officials today.

The Triangle cowboys, Culver City studio performers and scores of other employees of the big producing concern will take part in the dedication festivities, which will consist of the erection of a huge sign bearing the new name of the town and the laying of a corner-stone.

The Hartville plant is the one in which all of the popular actor's world-famous pictures have been made, and the change in name signifies no other departure from the producing activities that have made the mountain studios one of the most picturesque and important centers of the industry. Hartville is in the Santa Monica mountains, twelve miles north of the town of Santa Monica.

Woodley.

As a contribution to that department of literature known as The Pansy Books, "A Hater of Men," at the Woodley is great stuff; as a document of human life it is about as natural and convincing as a tin minnow.

Bessie Barriscale, as the heroine, is supposed to be a newspaper woman, "who has gained some renown with her pen." We view her at first reporting a great divorce case, after which we do not see her working at her job. Instead, we behold her at wonderful house parties and on boating trips, and wearing, oh, such clothes! She decides the man she is engaged to doesn't amount to much, and frankly we agree with her, as all Billie seems to do after she has thrown him over is to pine and gaze at her picture.

But before the bogey of Bohemia gets her, she overhears a priggish young gentleman describe her as "very frivolous, I fear," and that settles it. Bessie throws a spasm and reforms right there, taking Billie back and marrying him, and, presumably, supporting him.

Seriously, all girls on the verge of matrimony must needs have grave doubts and vague fears. But that touchstone of life, a newspaper office, does not turn out women with so little common sense—not to mention a sense of humor—as C. Gardner Sullivan and Bessie Barriscale have given us.

Garrick.

Not alone a Muse of Muscle, but also a Joss of Jazz, is Charlie Chaplin's inspiring genius. This Charlie proves again this week at the Garrick, in his latest picture, "The Immigrant," which contains a thousand touches of fun, which must be seen to be appreciated.

I once read of an eccentric hostess who dealt out subjects of conversation to her guests at a dinner party. I don't know whether they all stuck to the subjects allotted them—I imagine some of them would have found it impossible to resist taking at least an oblique swipe at their hostess—but there was one beautiful young woman who was given the theme "ham sandwich" for discussion, and who so wittily did discourse thereon that she won her dinner partner for a husband.

This feat reminds me of Chaplin's cleverness; he it is who can make even a ham sandwich the funniest thing in the world for the time being, as witness the business of dice throwing, when the dice becomes a baseball, and the amusing bit with the silver dollar on the restaurant floor, over which the poverty-stricken Charlie's hopes alternately ebb and flow.

Will Ferry Them Safely.

That apostle of pep, Charles Pike, the Charon who ferries the film and stage favorites safely to and from these Elysian fields of California, is arranging, on behalf of the Salt Lake Railroad Company, a special Pullman excursion July 10, to carry the exhibitors who wish to attend the meeting of the Exhibitors' League in Chicago.

A great many of the film stars will also be present at the meeting, in addition to thousands of exhibitors from all parts of the country.

Hard Luck for Russell.

According to Russell, 6-year-old son of Evelyn Nesbit, who is appearing at the Orpheum this week, that urchin is the most abused youngster in the world. The reason is his mother won't let him have a jack-knife.

To what lengths Russell will go to get what his heart hungers for, is illustrated by an incident recently in Kansas City. Miss Nesbit was returning to her hotel after the matinee. From her taxicab she espied, as she thought, her young hopeful playing on the sidewalk with a number of other boys. She was certain she recognized him because of his fur-lined overcoat. She stopped the taxi and swooped down on the youngster to find she was right about the overcoat but wrong about the boy.

Searching inquiry developed that son Russell had met the boy on the street and traded his $100 overcoat for a 15-cent jack-knife. Miss Nesbit bundled the boy with the coat into the taxi and hastened to the hotel, where she found Russell having the time of his young life carving chunks out of the mahogany desk in her suite. Naturally there was a swift re-exchange of gifts between the boys; in consequence Russell feels there is no justice in this land for small boys ambitious to own jack-knives.

Letty Comes Again.

"So Long Letty," bringing Charlotte Greenwood and all the rest of the scenery, will arrive at the Mason next week. This musical comedy has acquired a New York polish since last seen here.

Can Sing, Too!

Those who go to the Superba tonight to view "Fires of Rebellion," in which Dorothy Phillips is starred, will have a double treat. Miss Phillips will appear in person at the Superba and will sing F. B. Silverwood's newest song, "Honolulu, I'm Coming Back Again" as a matter of its formal christening. David Lindeman wrote the music.

National Guards' Benefit.

Various motion-picture stars of many horse-power magnitude will give a benefit tonight for Co. B, California Engineers, National Guard, at Levy's Tavern in Watts. The programme will commence at 7 o'clock.

Among those who will take part are Charlie Murray, William S. Hart, Crane Wilbur and Lena Basketta.

GENERAL REVIEWS.

Pantages.

The seeker of joy in the temples of entertainment will do well to approach the shrine of Alexander Pantages with glad cries and palm music of approval this week.

Freddy James insists that he is the worst juggler in the world. He is more; he is a master of mis-manipulation. He can do a three-ball "fountain" and cause a shower of laughter.

Ralph Bevan and Beatrice Flint whisked through so many new gags in ten minutes that they left the audience breathless.

A young chap named Jerome uses his head (but not in the way intended) in his acrobatics. He has some be-u-tiful flips—back, front and side—and an assistant who is likewise ditto from all viewpoints.

If Stoddard, "the absent-minded professor," would forgetfully leave his back-drop in the baggage car and teach his pretty partner to speak her lines with some life he would have as nice a musical rondelay as one could wish. Even now more than one eye is moist as the result of his sympathetic work as an old musician.

They can't be wearing 'em much higher in Hawaii than the lively flock of Broadway poultry in Anderson's song and dance revue do.

Capt. Louis Sorcho tells all about underwater life as experienced by the diver, with a real diver in a real tank of water to prove it. We were disappointed at the absence of the mermaids the posters showed, though.

Hippodrome.

The Hippodrome bill has many bright spots this week, one of the most spectacular being provided by Kubilik, an eccentric violinist. Kubilik's work carries the stamp of genius, and those who love music cannot afford to miss it.

Alveretta, Rego and Stoppit present a fast and furious acrobatic funfest which starts matters nimbly. Henry and Moore offer a potpourri of singing and dancing of a fair average.

"Almost Married" is the name of an amusing musical skit provided by Libby Blondell and company. Topical songs are given by the Jolly Trio, three husky boys. Malkoff's Russian Gypsies prove worth listening to with their native folk songs, dances and instrumental selections.

Rialto.

The great photomelodrama, "The Whip," entered its second week at the Rialto last Sunday. The original "Whip" was a stage creation, one of the greatest melodramas ever produced. Indeed, to the English people—the place is a London production—"The Whip" was almost what "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is to the American.

The story has to do with the race-track, and the picture provides wholesale thrill and adventure with the race course as background.

Clune's Broadway.

Douglas Fairbanks in "Wild and Woolly" is at Clune's Broadway this week. So great was the demand for seats when the film was exhibited at Clune's Auditorium last week that a transfer was made to the other Clune theater.

Burbank.

If a rich young fellow masquerading as a poor young fellow meets a poor young girl masquerading as a rich young girl, will they fall in love? Sure they will. That is plot 17 from the volume of Plots that Must be Used Once in a While.

In "The Upper Crust," the screen-narration of Charles Sherman's "The Indiscretions of Molly," this plot is dressed up so happily as to be almost unrecognizable. There is lots of good fun in the film, and the scenario is strongly written. Gail Kane and Douglas MacLean easily make the best screen hit at the Burbank since Photoville's inception.

The vaudeville numbers include Tusney and Orlow, Russian dancers; Budd and Edward, Hebrew fun merchants; Harper and Curson, a man and girl with songs and foolishness, and Lieut. Eldredge, "Direct from the Front."

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) Reports in Wall street that the Interstate Commerce Commission would grant the petition of the transportation companies for an increase in freight rates exerted a beneficial influence upon railway issues, shares in this group on the Stock Exchange rising to materially higher levels. Continuance of 6 per cent. call money was neutralized by the arrival of almost ten millions more in British gold. In exchanges lire were strong, but there was a slight setback in rubles. Bonds were slightly lower on nominal dealings.

WHO OWNS THE GOAT?

If you trade a dog for a goat, and swap the goat for a cow, and the cow runs away to her original owner, and he sells her to a butcher and the butcher makes steaks and roasts of her, to whom, then, do the dog and the goat belong? High-school students in Whately's logic, Butler's Analogy and Locke on the Human Understanding please reply!

FOR ARIZONA.

That progressive paper, the Arizona Republican, has done credit to itself and a service to its State in the publication, on June 17, of an edition containing 100 pages and giving a vast amount of information in regard to the resources, development and progress generally of that rich State. It will be a most valuable means of information for those seeking places for profitable investment of capital.

SOUNDS GOOD.

After conferences lasting two weeks with officials of the Chicago surface and elevated street car lines the employees, who had threatened a strike, continued their work, the employers and employees having reached a compromise influenced, it is said, by patriotic motives, neither side desiring to precipitate a strike at this crisis in the affairs of the nation. It does begin to look as if some people are coming to their senses.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

Oats fell in price in Chicago because the prohibition rider on the food-control bill is expected to prevent the use of barley for making beer, and barley will then be available for feeding horses. A municipal ordinance prohibiting the keeping of cackling hens on city lots would send yard eggs soaring in price, and manufacturing meal out of alfalfa will not lower the price of hay. But no changes resulting from the food-control bill will affect the price of turnips. You cannot make starch or beer or sugar from a turnip.

IS A CORSET A DEADLY WEAPON?

The California Code makes it a felony to assault another with "a deadly weapon, instrument or other thing." A gambler who struck a check guerrilla over the head with a faro box received two years in the penitentiary for the deed, for, although only a slight scalp wound was inflicted, yet the court held that the offender might, could, would or should have broken the skull of his victim, and the law took into consideration the potentialities of the weapon used rather than its accomplishments, and a shot from a pistol was an assault with a deadly weapon, although the assailant missed his aim.

A more or less loving wife in Los Angeles with her corset so belabored her husband as to send him to the hospital for repairs. Did she use a deadly weapon?

THERE'S NO ESCAPE.

"To the girl who gets this: write to lonely Hugh White Willis, Calexico, Cal." The result of this message, written on a cantaloupe wrapper and sent half-way across the continent, was the wedding recently of the writer and the young woman who received the melon. While most of us wouldn't care to choose our wives in this manner, this is not the first time such a method has been used in bringing about the union of two lonely hearts. Many marriages are purely the result of passion, while others are contracted for the sake of convenience or for financial or other purposes. But the very fact that two persons, unknown to each other and living far apart, are willing to confess their loneliness and their need entitles them to at least a fair chance for connubial happiness. "No man can escape love," said a great writer, "but those who attempt to escape it often find themselves in a state in which they are subject to monstrous inspirations."

ANOTHER SUCCESS?

Oliver Morosco, in collaboration with other artists to whom he gladly gives full credit, has produced another musical comedy which bids fair to be as popular as his two former successes, "So Long Letty" and "Canary Cottage," which, like the present production, had their premieres in Los Angeles and went forth to conquer New York. Of Mr. Morosco's productions it may be said that "As goes Los Angeles, so goes the country." The new play is called "What Next?" and it seems to have made a hit with a really representative audience at its first performance. One critic said of it: "The setting has that beautiful simplicity which is the most complex thing on earth—a paradox in its sound futurism—for it is a new art that is neither caricature, laziness nor insanity, and violates no canons of the beauty that is art." If it is really all that it should prove interesting enough to make the theatergoers of the country curious to see and hear it.

THE FAILURE OF THE LOS ANGELES COUNTY CHARTER.

Government in Los Angeles county is administered under a charter that is reputed to be the most "progressive" in the United States. Dr. John R. Haynes and Hiram Johnson are its tituiary bishops; it was drafted by a board of freeholders presented to the electorate by Meyer Lissner and Marshall Stimson, and labeled hand-picked. "Human rights" are safeguarded by all the devices known to the politician. This includes the initiative, the referendum, the recall, the direct primary, the nonpartisan ballot, public ownership, civil service, government by commission and old-age pensions for county employees.

When it was adopted we were assured that, under its beneficent provisions, all county salaries would be increased, but the tax rate would be lowered; the officials were to get more and the taxpayers would pay less. Fraud would be impossible, as only honest and upright candidates, by reason of the direct primary provision, could be nominated for office. Any miscarriage of justice could be blocked by the referendum and the guilty party deposed by the recall. Future political economists would cease to use the word Utopia in referring to an ideal government and would adopt Los Angeles instead. If any jewel of progressive government should be missing, through the medium of the initiative it could be quickly supplied. Los Angeles county was to be as noted for its perfect government as its perfect days.

It was all very charming; the voters accepted this wonderful document almost on their knees and the millennium was duly installed. But just as we have settled down to the solid comfort of a government more radically perfect than perfection itself a rude foreman of a grand jury comes along and reports to Judge Craig of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county that the money in the treasury had just been counted and there is a slight shortage amounting to $1,271,786.47. A statement of governmental expense reveals that, under the new charter, the cost of county government insists on doubling every four years.

Alas for "Progressive" wisdom! There are more frills, furbelows, tiaras and beauty patches on that charter than ever adorned a Madame Pompadour or La Valliere, but there is no groundwork of common sense. It reminds one of the impoverished Polish noblemen, to whom Bismarck used to refer, who wore ermine cloaks but no shirts. The members of the grand jury are themselves in a quandary. The funds are short; and misuse of the funds is a felony; yet the jurymen have failed to discover that the members of the Board of Supervisors either intended to defraud or were aware that any fraud had been committed. Their report to the Superior judge is unique:

> While Your Honor directed us to many sections of the law that the penalty for such misuse of the public funds was indictment for felony, the grand jury has not yet brought such indictments, but has considered it imperative in the public interest to bring accusations for the removal from office of offending officials to the end that the finances of the county may be put on a sound basis at the earliest moment possible.

Among experts who have investigated the tangled condition of the county finances, a snarl that has cost the taxpayers more than $1,200,000 to date, there seems to be a unanimity of opinion that the Supervisors themselves were not wholly to blame. The financial sections of the charter are so loosely drawn that it is said to be almost impossible to know the condition of the funds at any given time. The Supervisors are not believed to have been aware that a deficit existed; the money was all paid out for labor and supplies on warrants properly drawn; but the trouble is that there seems to be no way to determine when a certain fund is exhausted. There is a State law which provides that money cannot be raised by taxation in any fiscal year to pay a shortage of a previous year.

Other less "Progressive" communities might insist on repealing the charter; but such action could not be considered here. Better that the whole county should go bankrupt than that there should be any modification of these tenets of "human rights." No checks have been provided to detect errors, for the reason that "Progressives" never make mistakes. All the old safeguards were repealed; but there was just one section that refused to stay abolished. No human invention has yet been made absolutely perfect, not even a "Progressive" politician; the great Lincoln himself observed that "you can't repeal human nature." This one ugly little fact threatens to demolish the whole "Progressive" theory of modern government, a theory that bears a striking resemblance to the pacifist policy for resisting the encroachments of the House of Hohenzollern.

GOODBY TO A "HOLLER!"

What have become of the Pinchots and their propaganda about the conservation of natural resources? These arch conspirators against the industrial development of the West have suddenly disappeared from the headlines of the Progressive press. Even Collier's Weekly and the Outlook have forgotten them. Conservation of natural resources was only yesterday the cure-all for our national and social ills; but it has not even been assigned a place on the programme for "making the world safe for democracy."

Conservation is no longer an administration policy. Every energy of the nation is now directed towards the DEVELOPMENT of our resources, and conservation meant retarded or arrested development. Pick up any of the Progressive papers of 1912 and read the attacks upon the Republican administration because it was lax in its policy of conservation. Men who believed that the great coal fields of Montana and Alaska should be developed as rapidly as possible were denounced as the foes of democracy. Penalties were decreed and enforced against those who were striving to increase the country's production of coal and oil. There was only one honest policy; these great natural storehouses should be locked and barred against the present generation; future races might have need of them.

Turn from those diatribes to the present utterances of our men of state. Secretary Daniels has just advocated before a Senate committee that negotiations should be entered into at once by the government to hasten the opening of all the coal and oil fields in the nation. The government is ready to expend hundreds of millions now to encourage private capital to open those very fields that were barricaded by governmental decree only five years ago. It seems criminal now—the fact that probably two million soldiers of democracy will be sacrificed through prolonging a struggle that might be brought to a successful issue within a few months if the coal fields of Alaska and the oil fields of California were opened and developed as private capital sought vainly to develop them.

Our ultra-conservationists were about as far-sighted as the free-traders of Great Britain who ruined English agriculture in order to cheapen the cost of manufacturers. When the storms rage and the floods rise England finds its farming lands unutilized, and the United States discovers its great natural storehouses so hermetically sealed that it will require from three to five years to open them.

ACHIEVEMENTS OF SCIENCE.

It has been truthfully said that the nineteenth century was an age of transition. During its existence waves of thought rolled over the nations with a volume ever increasing and in tides that never receded. The resistless movement carried society each year further from ancient landmarks and systems of philosophy which sank into oblivion. In the application of scientific principles to natural force; in discoveries and inventions which have wrought important changes in all the relationships of the civilized world, and in the emancipation of the human reason from a thraldom which forbade any inquiry except in conformity to certain prescribed theories, the nineteenth century claims its splendid and enduring triumphs.

In the lifetime of men now living science has launched the steamship on the trackless ocean, and impelled it forward against warring billows and opposing winds; has painted with the sunbeam and made the subtle currents of electricity—invisible yet unerring—carriers of thought. It has descended into the dark chambers of the earth and exhumed treasures of gold and silver, surpassing in value all that men had gathered during previous centuries of civilization.

In the present century, leaving the peaceful vocations of industry, and devoting its resources to the work of destroying life, science has forged engines of death more potent than the wildest dreams of imagination ever before conceived. It has swept with sublime confidence down the abyss of time, and traversing the countless ages of the past presents to the vision no uncertain pictures of the world from creation's dawn to the present hour. It exhibits the earth as a vast sepulcher in which are buried the forms of life that have perished. As one generation was about to expire, the creative energy of nature evolved from it another and higher class of existence. Thus, through successive epochs, we behold a series of phenomena, governed by harmonious laws, and evincing a complete unity of design. Science ascends with its torch to the skies, surveys the celestial worlds, defines their appointed courses, and discovers the very elements of which they are composed. It points to Alcyone in the constellation of the Pleiades, and demonstrates that it is a grand central sun, encircled by the universe of stars, forming our astral system. Around that resplendent orb, our sun, with his satellites, revolves in an orbit so vast that 18,200,000 years must elapse before one revolution is completed.

The day is rapidly approaching, if indeed it is not already here, when an operator on a watch tower on the coast will make artificial lightning. He will gather the electric forces from the air and hurl them against and destroy an approaching hostile fleet.

We may have airplanes that will carry hundreds of passengers and a thousand tons of freight, and cross the Atlantic in twenty-four hours. Ocean storms will cease to be of consequence, for airships will mount above them and submarines will sink below them. Manufacturers of fertilizers will close their establishments, for the farmer will go up on the roof of his barn and with his apparatus pull down from the atmosphere all the nitrogen needed to secure bounteous crops.

"Amid the cyclical movements of society," said Le Conte, "the rise and fall of nations and civilizations, the flux and reflux of opinions, the revolutions of all kinds, which agitate, like a seething cauldron, the popular mind, science alone—because it is the simplest and purest embodiment of the human intellect, unaffected by the passions which mingle with all other pursuits—science alone, among all human works, moves steadily onward and upward, ever increasing in grandeur and beauty. Like a magnificent temple, grandly and steadily it rises, under the busy hands of thousands of eager workers, the greatest monument of human genius."

CUI BONO?

Progressivism in power in this State effected a change from representative to dictatorial government and we passed from what its mouthers called government by the few to government by the fewer. The holier-than-thou rule has cost the taxpayers a good many millions of dollars. It was accomplished by a loud-voiced, persistent, yelping against "big business," "predatory wealth," "special privilege" and "loathsome capitalism." The initiative, the referendum and the recall were adopted as all-around panaceas for all the evils with which it was alleged the State was afflicted, and "reform" swept upon us like a turkey buzzard on the lookout for a deceased mule.

Except in foisting upon the taxpayers a job-lot of hungry politicians as high-salaried commissioners to regulate everything in the heavens above, the earth beneath and the waters under the earth it does not appear that California is any nearer the millennium than it was seven or ten years ago. Big business has not been laid wounded unto death at the feet of little business. Special privilege has wallowed in its specialties just the same. Loathsome capitalism has continued to collect its loathsome interest on its loathsome mortgages, and to cut off its loathsome coupons from its loathsome bonds. State, county and municipal officers have continued to draw their salaries with cheerful regularity. The sun has shone, the rains have fallen. Labor has been rewarded for its toil. Wealth has reaped profit from its investments. The hum of industry has continued to make vocal the day. The jitneys have continued to stimulate the activity of foot passengers at the street crossings. Everything has been lovely and the goose has not been taken down from his elevation.

If "Progressive" policies had not been adopted; if insurgent politicians had not obtained office, would the great department stores have been closed? Would the hotels have been destitute of guests? Would the factories and foundries have resounded not with the din of industry? Would the streets have been filled with gaunt and hungry men and women and would little children have been crying for bread if it had not been for the triumph of progression and the downfall of the vile, ignorant, unpatriotic reactionaries?

Have all the costly laws which Progressive Legislatures—ruled by a plunderbund—enacted been of the slightest benefit to anybody in the world except a few thousand tax-eaters who have been given office as a reward for being "good dogs"?

The Times pauses for a reply.

The doing away with futures in the Chicago market, as we understand it, makes it impossible for a man to sell a million bushels of wheat when he hasn't got it to a man who could not pay for it if it could be delivered.

The sudden subsidence of William J. Bryan is not an unfavorable symptom. In fact it is distinctly encouraging. Uncle Sam may not need the pulmotor.

THE CLEAN PLATE.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

This agitation for "The gospel of the clean plate" sounds ironical to the average foreigner. The United States is probably the only country in the world to which the admonition could have any significance.

Think of the superfluous luxury the phrase conjures up! What gorgeous gluttons we must be that our plates could be so generously laden that we can afford to send half of it away untouched—or rather picked over, which is worse.

And yet this is a practice in this country—not only with the rich, but with the poor. Visit the very cheapest restaurants, where table manners are not, and see the food that is slopped on the table, scattered on the floor, sent away on the plates. And in the smart restaurants the garbage cans are a scandal. An economical Frenchwoman could feed a whole orphanage on the food that the Alexandria has to waste. And she could certainly feed another family on what the average American family throws away.

And we pile on the luxuries with such sublime insouciance. When I first came to America I was scandalized to find every American eating butter on his bread with a course meal. Americans always have to call for butter in Europe with a meat meal, except where they cater particularly for Americans. Otherwise it is never even put on the table with a meat course. And you always have to call for ice—in fact, an ice order in England stamps one as an American right away.

And the way the average American eats hot buttered toast—the most extravagant way of using up butter. Hot buttered toast is usually a Sabbath luxury for breakfast in any ordinary European home. And our gorgeous recipes for cakes and pastry calling for whole cups of butter—you can't sell American cookery books in Europe—they are a standard joke of extravagance. And the happy-go-lucky way we have of flopping big chunks of butter on our vegetables—I even know superb, unconscious gluttons who spread butter on their bacon! As for butter and jam on the same piece of bread—that is a banquet for the average European child, reserved expressly for Christmas and birthdays.

I have seen pampered little angel Americans review a well-laden table and wonder satirically if there was anything they could eat. Almost all American children have pampered tastes in food and comfortably decline to eat anything they think they don't like. I'm sorry for the European child who started any such fancy tricks. He is provided with a good wholesome meal and expected to eat it—at the table, too—no "piecing" between meals and upsetting the housekeeper's careful calculations.

Yet I have had neighbors that gaily threw away whole dishpans full of stale bread every week, because nobody liked eating the crusts! Neighbors living in modest little five-roomed bungalows, too, with husbands working on a clerk's salary.

Our penchant for the frying pan is an outrage. It has been truly said that the frying pan is the housewife's worst enemy. Frying is the least nourishing, the most indigestible and most wasteful method of cooking that was ever invented. About the only recommendation it has is that it is quick and easy. It certainly is not the most palatable. But stews and hashes have justly sunk into disrepute in this country—for the average housewife just chucks any old thing into a stew without the slightest regard for distinctive flavoring. And she boils it to death, drowns it in greasy water—and then resignedly regrets that the family doesn't like stew.

Yet the stew can be an epicurean savory. Stews are quite aristocratic meals in any other country. And with the proper use of the stewpan and the casserole dish, the cheapest, stringiest parts of meat can become tender and delicate. Prices of meat don't vary so much in any other country for this very reason. But here, where steaks and chops and fried chicken are the highest flights of gastronomics to be expected of the average housewife, those parts are naturally suffering from inflated prices. And the butchers have to almost give the stewing meats away.

And so long as the American appetite has to be tempted with rich sugared cakes and gaudy cookies, with slabs of butter to enhance the flavor of good vegetables, with rich mayonnaises to coax salads down with, we can't complain that we have ever known hunger. Cakes and pies are regular household fare in this country; they are banquet diet anywhere else.

No wonder half of us have stomach trouble—those poor overworked stomachs of ours are called upon to digest a superfluity of rich luxuries when all they crave is the simplest of frugal fare. This food shortage is going to be a veritable godsend for health. Every recommendation that the food council has made so far is merely requiring us to so order our meals as most other countries did in times of peace and plenty before the war. And we can't pretend they were less healthy than ourselves—dyspepsia and stomach trouble are almost exclusively an American complaint. As are the consequent decayed teeth. Dentists don't have half such an affluent time of it in Europe.

"The gospel of the clean plate" is going to do us all a world of good. So long as we can pick over our food and leave half of it, we don't know the joys of a glorious healthy appetite. And the joys of a healthy appetite can, as so respectable a philosopher as Stevenson said, give far more general satisfaction than the joys of the intellect.

At this distance from the scene of the hostilities it looks as if Mars will be compelled to mark time until the Goethals-Deaman row is settled.

THE UNREDEEMED ITALIAN PROVINCES.

[CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES.]

BY VINCENZO DE SANTO, PH. D.,

Formerly Editor of the Tribuna at Rome.

THE Austrian nation consists of twelve distinct races, each one of which is more or less hated or disliked by the others. The revolutionary wave that swept over Europe in the middle of the nineteenth century made the Emperor lose some provinces, but this loss did not affect the empire seriously, especially because the lost provinces were replaced in 1909 with the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The question that comes naturally to one's mind at this point is: By what virtue or what art did Francis Joseph hold unto all the different peoples that compose his empire? There can be only one or two general answers to this question. One, that the Viennese government has treated its subjects so well that it made them willing to remain under its rule; the other, that it has compelled them by force to accept its laws.

The Austrian policy in the Italian provinces has been always intentionally hostile to the Italians.

What Austria tried to do, in fact, was to force the Italians to Germanize themselves. Every means imaginable was used by the Viennese government to attain this end. Scores of Italian papers and magazines were suspended, from time to time, and their editors and collaborators put under arrest; hundreds of Italian books on history and politics were suppressed; thousands of Italian patriots were condemned to long imprisonment, exiled or put to the gallows; Italian schools were closed, and every little movement that tried to encourage the preservation of Italian ideals was promptly suppressed by imperial agents.

In the year 1832, after the Milanese insurrection against the Austrian government had been repressed, Francis I, who was then the Austrian Emperor, said that he "wanted the people of Lombardy to forget that they were Italians," and his Minister, Metternich, added that the Emperor "wanted to destroy the idea of the Italian unification and the constitutional aspirations of his Italian subjects," and that for that reason "His Imperial Majesty did not assume the title of King of Italy, disorganized that part of his army that was composed of Italian soldiers, and abolished all the institutions that tended to keep alive the Italian national idea."

The Austrian censure in the imperial Italian provinces was always as cruel and as punctilious as any religious inquisition on record in history. The golden rule which Metternich gave to his censors was to the effect that philosophy and history were the worst enemies of a people, and Francis I said, in this connection, that he wanted faithful subjects and not cultured ones.

What I have said is only a hint of what the Italian subjects of Austria-Hungary had to suffer for several generations and are still suffering in the unredeemed provinces. The policy of Francis I was followed out by Francis Joseph. In fact, the latter's treatment of the Italians was more severe, otherwise he could not have held them. After the unification of Italy the desire of Trent, Trieste and other Italian cities to be redeemed became more intense; more were the demonstrations of hostility to the Viennese government and more were the punishments administered to the population. Only three or four years ago a law was passed in Austria-Hungary to the effect that university degrees received in Italy would not be recognized within the imperial domain. This law was enacted because all the Italian students of the unredeemed provinces preferred to do their university work in Italy.

Within the last few decades the Austrian government has been most active in endeavoring to destroy everything that was Italian in the unredeemed provinces. Even the Italian family names were ordered to be Germanized. Attempts were made over and over again to impoverish the Italians in order to render them powerless in politics. Italian industry and business enterprises were not only discouraged, but often literally boycotted. Only two years ago the municipal administration of Trieste was ordered by the imperial government to expel all the Italians from the city and state positions.

This is how Austria has tried to assimilate her Italian subjects. But in spite of all these persecutions, and because of them, the unredeemed provinces have always preserved a pure and ardent love for Italy and are living for one great day to come, the day of their annexation to their mother land.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THE GERMAN SOLDIER.

I'd hate to be a German and fight for Kaiser Bill, unable to determine why I went forth to kill. The Frenchman and the Briton have causes fine and high, and when a foe they've smitten they know the reason why. The Russian and the Roman, the Belgian and the Serb, shoot up the armored foeman autocracy to curb. For freedom men are fighting on Europe's blood-drenched lands; the German, at this writing, for ancient error stands. The Kaiser says, "Go slaughter, go butcher till you die; make men's blood run like water and do not ask me why. Go, vassals, serfs, and visit my wrath on all my foes; I am the great What-is-it, and what I tell you goes. Don't ask me questions silly, don't prate of wrong or right; I'm the anointed Willie, who bids you go and fight. I am the sun in heaven; I am the moon and stars; to me alone is given the heart and front of Mars. And when I bid you wallow in blood up to your ears, my dictum you must follow! Hoch, Deutschland und zwei biers!" And so, like driven cattle, the Germans go to war, and wonder, as they battle, what they are bleeding for. WALT MASON.

Gen. Goethals, like the fort, still there.

One can be economical without being hysterical. There is all the difference in the world in the conditions.

Seven hundred and twenty women have enlisted in the Naval Reserves. Just like a woman—they are so reserved.

A Liverpool paper says that too much cleanliness is detrimental to health. That sheet ought to take a run down in Mexico.

The American khaki evokes cheers in Paris and London, but a little while the same spectacle may be seen in Berlin. Who can tell?

At this time, when the country needs the undivided support of its citizens, the nation is being distracted over the stymie discussion.

It might not have been a bad idea to have sent Col. Roosevelt to Russia. In any event there would have been some sort of report from Petrograd by this time.

In spite of the fact there was no "Daisy Chain" at Vassar this year, there were forty war brides at that institution. Thus do the sex respond to the call to arms.

Another feature of this war is the fact that national friendships have been made that never will be broken. It has certainly brought a new international era.

"Eat soupbones," advises Food Dictator Hoover. If they were of the old-fashioned kind that had some meat there could be no objection. But they are so different now.

The truth is that if King Constantine had been able to rule his own household, he might have come over on the job of ruling the Greeks. But isn't the first man in public life always scuttled at home.

By the cessation of trading in futures on the Chicago Board of Trade several thousand employees of the brokers in that city have been given "vacations." They may like it, but the speculators will have to earn money to pay the grocery and butcher bills, so it is an even break all around.

Alfalfa is not so bad as an article of diet if caught young. One can remember back on the old farm in the East when we used to chew it raw, and the tender joints of the stalks. And then what does the Food Board say about the excellence of alfalfa as a dinner as compared with a meal of grass?

The mothers who are sending their boys to the war to do or die are like the mother of Spartan sons responded to the call of King for their country—"Return with your shields," she said, "or be brought back upon them." It is the same spirit of self-sacrifice everywhere.

The wheat harvest has begun in Texas is now in full swing throughout the Central West and will move northward to the Hudson Bay country in September. Here is an opportunity for the weather man to be on his good behavior in order that the bumper crops may be safely harvested.

A second bond sale will be no more than the first, if German and Austrian experience counts for anything. The borrowed money goes back into trade. Given time the country will absorb ten times the loan that has just been subscribed. Secretary McAdoo says we may have another this fall or winter.

Someone ought to design a costume with the ultimate consumer in mind. In this threatened food war, seriously, isn't there a lot of humor in all of this food question. The agitation has certainly given the manipulators an opportunity to raise prices without rhyme or reason.

The Yankee "dare devils" will soon be on the firing line and there are many John Paul Jones's among them. Even Decaturs, John L. Sullivans, "Dick" Hobsons and Fred Funstons in the making. All but one of these were the centers of heroic deeds on the sea. The Kansas man was a hero to get at Aguinaldo—and so on.

Secretary Baker says that under no circumstances will there be a parade of American troops on their return to their leaving for the front in France. But why? How it would hearten the people, fix their faith upon the war and stimulate recruiting. We fear very much the "secretary" Baker has pulled another boner.

The graduating essays of various Los Angeles schools breathe all breathe the air of human consecration to duty in the present. It is a time for the noblest efforts of the nations. The old-fashioned essay ses on "Beyond the Alps Lies Italy" and "Per Aspera ad Astra" have been thrown into the discard, and be.

PRAYER.

Death came with icebergs in the path of the foundering wreck;
Choked gurglings in the throat of the hold,
Mad vermin shapes that scurried across the deck,
And blind mist, fold on fold.

One howled, "Great God, save me!" and one, "Oh, my life! O hear!"
One whispered, as he went down, a prayer crouching sea,
"Cleanse Thou my soul from the taint of fear,
While I come back to Thee."

Both died—one pleading, one with a curse of spume and foam.
Brain-maddened by the fear of death, by the brine;
One melted through into the Light, one to glow on glow,
Back to the Life Divine.

RED CROWN GASOLINE

Easy Starting

A Continuous Chain of Boiling Points

High Boiling Points for power & mileage

Medium Boiling Points for quick and smooth acceleration

Low Boiling Points for easy starting

Low boiling points do it—the first links in a continuous chain of boiling points. Low boiling points for easy starting, medium boiling points for quick and smooth acceleration, and high boiling points for power and mileage.

Red Crown is a straight-distilled gasoline. Hence there's a continuous chain of boiling points, gradually rising from low to high.

Mixtures cannot have a continuous chain of boiling points. That's why mixtures cannot be as good motor fuel as pure straight-run gasoline. And that's also why the gravity test for gasoline is worthless—gravity tells nothing at all about boiling points, the only real test of gasoline quality.

To make certain of getting real gasoline, and not a mixture, fill with

CONSOLIDATION ISSUE REVIVED.

With Presidency of Council Directly Involved.

Plan to Divide City-county Tax Machinery Rumored.

Mallard, Aspirant for Honors, Said to Support It.

If Walter Mallard, Councilman-elect, is chosen president of the Council, will he use the power of the position in an attempt to separate the offices of City Assessor and City Tax Collector from the county government?

There have been rumors of late that Mr. Mallard will work to that end. He became a candidate for the Council because his position as City Assessor was stamped out when the county took charge of the city office. For the same reason, former City Tax Collector Conrad ran for the Council, his job, too, having been legislated out of existence.

That Messrs. Mallard and Conrad are opposed to the consolidation of the office is reported. The offices can be made separate again after one year, at the discretion of the Council.

In connection with the rumor as to an attempted restoration of the offices, there is some speculation as to who will be appointed to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Conrad. It will expire August 1.

Friday afternoon the Councilmen-elect will hold a caucus and decide upon whom they shall support for president of the Council and who should head the various committees. Several of the incoming members declared yesterday no tentative agreement has been reached as to the presidency, and they do not expect to confer with their colleagues until the date set for the official caucus.

While it has been generally believed that the only candidates for president are J. S. Conwell and Mr. Mallard, it was stated yesterday that O. P. Conaway will be a contender and that Ralph Criswell would not be averse to accepting the honor. The latter declares he will not vote for any man who is not unreservedly in favor of municipal ownership.

Friends of Mr. Conwell are expressing hope of his election on the first ballot. They say he is the man of the hour, and deserving of the compliment.

OPTIMIST NO MORE.

Head of the Police Traffic Bureau who was Forty-six Years of Age Yesterday Believed in the Human Race Till He Met Too Many Speeders.

Life is just one blamed speeder after another, according to Acting Police Lieutenant Grogan, in charge of the traffic bureau.

He was 46 years of age yesterday and until nineteen months ago, when he was placed in charge of the traffic bureau, he was a confirmed optimist.

He had, until the traffic bureau became his charge, a firm belief in the goodness of men. Since that time he has lost this belief and says the best man he knows is an efficient motorcycle policeman, who catches every speeder he sees. At that, all those persons who plead ignorance of traffic laws, go to Lieut. Grogan to be released, and he, on first offenses, releases them after giving a lecture on traffic ordinances.

Lieut. Grogan has been in the police department eighteen years.

CLERK VANISHES.

After leaving letters to every friend in the city, Ike Pitler, a clerk, of No. 639 Stanford avenue, left his room yesterday afternoon, telling his landlady he was going to end his life. Friends of the man, who began to receive special delivery letters about 6 o'clock, called the police and asked them to find Pitler. He is 24 years of age, 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 145 pounds and is fair.

HALF HUNDRED FLIERS WANTED.

Aviation Service Requirements Modified as to Age and Education.

Earle Remington, former squadron commander of the aviation section, Signal Corps, yesterday received from the War Department notification that fifty more men are wanted for the aviation section of the Officers' Reserve Corps, and that there is opportunity for a reconsideration of some men who had been rejected. Applications can be made to Mr. Remington at his office in the Broadway Central Building.

Requirements for entry into this service also have been reduced, as has the age limit. Formerly only men between 21 and 31 years old were eligible. Now the age limit is between 19 and 31 years. Heretofore it was required that the men have university degrees. Now those are eligible who have completed high school work and can show the necessary educational requirements and physical qualifications.

NAME LINKED TO MANY ROBBERIES.

VON WIEDOW SUSPECTED OF WHOLESALE CRIMES.

Said to Have Operated "Fence" for Receipt of Goods Stolen from Large Number of Homes—Great Part of Loot Identified, Rest Being Traced.

Carl von Wiedow, held in the County Jail on the charge of receiving stolen goods, was yesterday connected by the police with a chain of burglaries that began last August. The goods which Officers Wood and Murphy identify as having been stolen from various persons between August 11, 1916 and March 11, 1917, are valued at approximately $2000 and there still is several thousand dollars worth not positively identified.

Von Wiedow claims he bought and paid for the property, but the police assert they have positive evidence to the contrary.

Following are the persons robbed and the dates on which the crimes were committed: August Dores, No. 947 South Soto street, August 11, 1916; Walter T. Casey, No. 226 South Robinson street, same date; J. Schoder, No. 4600 Menlo avenue, February 9, 1917; Charles Braener, No. 3424 East First street, and E. Westphal, No. 3811 Manitou avenue, February 18, 1917; L. J. Carl, No. 4627 Moneta avenue, March 3, 1917; Mrs. J. Lewis, No. 451 Rosemont avenue, March 8, 1917, and A. E. Deitz, No. 447 North Figueroa street, March 11, 1917.

DOCTOR STRUCK DOWN.

Army and Hip Fractured by Impact of Motor Car.

While crossing the intersection at Third and Spring streets, Dr. J. S. Gordon, a physician of Providence, R. I., was knocked to the pavement yesterday evening by an automobile. His left arm and left hip were fractured.

The automobile, the property of H. L. Glaze of No. 3113 South Grand avenue, struck the physician, who is 61 years of age, on the left side. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital by Mr. Glaze, and given treatment by Police Surgeon Stookey.

Dr. Gordon is registered at the Westminster Hotel.

MANY DIPLOMAS IN GLAD HANDS.

Merry Round of Commencement Festivities Begins.

Seventy-six Eighth Grades' Exercises Combined.

Sheepskins Received by Four High School Classes.

This is commencement week in Los Angeles. The faithful army enlisted for education, that has completed its four years' work, is now passing in grand review, and is receiving the "well done" from its superior officers. The honorable discharge is evidenced by the presentation of the long-striven-for diplomas.

The first of the commencement affairs of the Los Angeles city schools were conducted last night. The last of them will be Friday night. Many hundreds of boys and girls during this week will be officially declared fit and competent to begin college courses. A large percentage of them plan to continue their pursuit of education.

As a fitting prelude to the graduations from the various High Schools, there occurred yesterday forenoon at Manual Arts High School an event for the pupils who have finished the eighth-grade work and have thus prepared themselves for entrance into the secondary schools.

The auditorium at Manual Arts was filled to capacity. Fond parents and relatives from all parts of the city were on hand, as well as masses of boys and girls. Heretofore they were "pupils." Hereafter they will have the dignity of being "students."

EXERCISES COMBINED.

The affair yesterday forenoon combined the closing exercises of twenty-five major and fifty-one minor elementary schools. The combined seventh and eighth-grade orchestra furnished music, and Dr. Albert Shiels, Superintendent of Schools, made an address. There were also talks by Louise Cutter on "Woman's Work Today;" Marguerite Mandaville, "Value of Dramatics;" Fay Loofbourrow, "Our Flag;" Ruby Sweet, "Do Your Bit;" George Drasher, "The Man of the Hour."

Last evening commencement exercises were conducted for Lincoln High School, Franklin High School, Jefferson High School and the Van Nuys High School, and the graduating class of the Polytechnic High School presented its class programme. Its commencement occurs tomorrow evening.

Many were unable to gain admission at the Lincoln High School auditorium and all available space was used to accommodate the throng that gathered to witness the graduation of ninety students. The girl graduates appeared in gowns that were limited in cost to $5, and it was the invariable rule that the skirts should come within nine inches of the floor. The boys were uniformly dressed in blue coat and white trousers.

The programme was as follows: Processional, Los Angeles High School Orchestra; song, "Swinging Along," Boys' Glee Club; "The Belgian People," Millicent Childs; piano solo, Walter Palmer; "The Control of the Pacific," Charles Hodges; vocal solo, "Serenade," Paul Hill; "The Representative American," Florence Stevens; violin solo, Mabel Dodson; "Andrew Furisath, Sailor," Clarence Clendennen; song, "Carmena," combined glee clubs; "A Word of Cheer," Dr. Albert Shiels; vocal solo, Almira Lathrop; presentation of the graduating class by Ethel Percy Andrus, principal; conferring of the diplomas, J. H. Bean of the Board of Education; acceptance on behalf of the class, Milo Jamison, president of the summer class of 1917; recessional, "Alma Mater."

FIRST COMMENCEMENT.

Jefferson High School had its first commencement last night. This school was opened only last fall. The graduating class numbered eight. Next year it will reach toward the 100 mark.

The graduates are: Marion Bell, Maryan A. Kelley, Florence Rowell, Evelyn Kuder, Margaret Schurmann, Dale Watson, Raymond Kuder and William Swyter.

The processional, "Lohengrin's" prelude, was by the violin choir, and there were musical numbers by the orchestra and the combined glee clubs. Dr. Shiels made the principal address. Evelyn Kuder presented the theme, "Mme. Brefhkowski, the Little Grandmother of Russia," dealing with the Russian revolution, and Florence Rowell's subject was "Woman's Work in the War."

The auditorium of the Jefferson High School has not yet been built, so the exercises last night were conducted in the large cafeteria. The woodwork class had fitted up a temporary stage, and the drawing department, under the supervision of Miss Elsie Whitman, transformed the place into a bower of beauty. Palms and Shasta daisies were used in profusion.

AT FRANKLIN HIGH.

The Franklin High School commencement programme was given in the Highland Park Presbyterian Church, Avenue 53 and Pasadena avenue. The auditorium was decorated in green and white, the class colors. Dr. E. F. Ryland made the address and there was music by the

YET MORE GOLD FOR RED CROSS

Over Eight Thousand Dollars Added to Local Fund by Late Returns.

With some thousands of dollars yet outstanding, a partial audited tabulation of the Red Cross fund raised in Los Angeles during the past week totaled $1,021,930 yesterday, as against $1,013,029.60, the total reported Monday night.

The amount collected in the house-to-house canvass, which in donations ranging from 5 cents to $5 were received, was yesterday raised to $[illegible], when an additional $[illegible] was turned in to C. V. [illegible] in the Pacific Electric Building.

Some of the canvassers' lists are still out and yesterday an urgent appeal was issued that they, with the money, be turned in, so that auditing of the fund can be completed at once.

Franklin Glee Club, the chorus, the combined orchestra, Mrs. [illegible] M. Dorsey, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, gave the diplomas to the class of twenty, presented by principal, Charles B. Moore. A graduate made a response as the diploma was given.

POTATO LORE FOR VAN NUYS [illegible]

INSTRUCTION TODAY BY "WIZARD" YOUNG.

Orange County Expert, Also to Pomona People See His Wonderful Huntington Beach Farm, Goes to Their Ranches and Advises Them All Good.

All Van Nuys is going to learn how to raise potatoes when J. Young, the "Potato Wizard" of Orange county, will give a lesson. From early this morning until late this afternoon the agriculturists of the district will listen to words of wisdom and advice about spuds from a man who has made almost a life study of one subject. They may go home to begin doing their "stuff" on a larger scale than ever before.

Some of the leading growers of Van Nuys and its vicinity until yesterday an idea that all there was to it was producing these products of the ground. Many had been content to let the tendrils puffed up about the hills and spuds ripening for the digging and about their little city. But before they visited Andy Young's place and saw what can be done with potatoes under highly scientific methods of cultivation.

Fifteen of the many growers who have gone in for potato raising on an extensive scale in the Van Nuys district this year motored in automobiles to Mr. Young's farm at Huntington Beach yesterday morning as guests of W. P. Whitsett, selling agent and one of the principal owners and developers of the Van Nuys townsite and tract.

The members of the party were F. A. Kellogg, Mark Brandt, B. Hubbell, E. [illegible] Brandt, F. M. Keffer, L. [illegible] cock, F. M. Goodhue, J. [illegible] rick, C. M. Lindsey, [illegible] H. A. Panoslian, B. F. [illegible] Nance and H. S. Trotter.

Mr. Young has been growing potatoes on the same [illegible] of ground for twenty-three years and has never had anything resembling a failure to report. During almost the entire period a century he has been constantly experimenting. His one hobby in life is potatoes. Among his neighbors and friends he is known as something of a wizard on account of the number of bushels of spuds he has produced and the stunts of heavy yielding to the acre his vegetable pets perform.

The visitors were driven over many of infinite variety of soils and under possible conditions and at different times. They had described before them the possibilities of [illegible] cropping," "self feeding" and various methods of cultivation that the Orange county expert has learned by long experience and close study. They were told that thirty to forty or more tons can be covered in ground that [illegible] no other crop in a given time, and they were shown the possibilities and farms of other [illegible] at the same [illegible] of year.

Mr. Young came back to Los Angeles with the party that had visited Mr. Whitsett to [illegible] night. WAR'S SHADOW UPON COLLEGE.

Lends an Added Solemnity to Pomona Commencement.

Several Degrees Conferred "In Absentia."

America's Part in Conflict is Subject of Talks.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CLAREMONT, June 26.—War lent an added solemnity to Pomona College graduation exercises, held in the Greek Theater last evening. From the announcement of the subject of the opening address, "Germany's War Philosophy," the part America is to play in the great world conflict was constantly referred to, either directly or by implication, until the impressive moment, near the close of the exercises, when President James A. Blaisdell conferred degrees "in absentia" upon those members of the class who had already enlisted for active service, handing the diplomas to the vice-president of the senior class to safeguard "for the soldiers," since the class president is himself one of the nine Pomona seniors already on their way to France with one of the first ambulance corps units.

Forming at the close of the faculty and alumni reception on the library lawn, the final academic procession of the college year wound its way across the campus to Blanchard Park, where an audience of 2000 persons had gathered in the open-air amphitheater to watch the biggest class ever graduated from the institution, the first to surpass the 100 mark, receive its degrees. The rays of the setting sun shone on the black caps and gowns of the big senior class, and on the bright hoods of the faculty, seated in opposing groups under the great live oaks on the natural stage.

FIVE SPEAKERS.

Five speakers, chosen in accordance with traditional Pomona College custom from among the honor members of the graduating class, delivered addresses. Elmo H. Conley of El Centro, speaking of Germany's war philosophy, pointed out how the great German nation, in its lust for conquest, had distorted the ideals laid out for it by sane thinkers. Paul McLean Dowling of San Dimas gave an address on "The Basis of Values," touching one of the high points of the evening when he exclaimed that it was not the length of a man's life, but the possibility of sacrifice attained, that counted in the ultimate valuation. Helen Hope Sturges of Claremont spoke on "The Education of Women," and asked that college women be trained to play a more important part in the making of democracy. Paul E. Schwab of Ontario told of "The Expansion of Democracy," seeing in the present war a great ultimate democratic gain to repay some of the cost of the struggle. Margaret E. Faires of Claremont, with "The War God" as her subject, held to the same great theme as the other speakers, seeking to go beyond H. G. Wells in "Mr. Britling," and find a faith that should justify the war.

SPECIAL PRIZES.

At the close of the commencement programme the college alumni enjoyed the annual reunion banquet at the Claremont Inn, the attendance taxing the capacity of the big commons.

The following awards of prizes for the year were announced: Home historical prizes, Bruce M. Wallace and Chalmer B. Shaver; Moncrieff Cline in astronomy, Frederick S. Hackett; Llewellyn Bixby mathematical prize, Wilson Arnett; Kinnear declamation prizes, Wilbur Stirtevant Nye and Cheng Tsai; Speer prizes, Rachel Sarah Fryer and Edward Ray Himrod.

POTATO LORE FOR VAN NUYS FOLK

INSTRUCTION TODAY BY "POTATO WIZARD" YOUNG.

Orange County Expert, After San Fernando People See His Wonderful Huntington Beach Farm, Goes to Their Ranches and Will Advise Them All Gratis.

All Van Nuys is going to learn how to raise potatoes today. A. T. Young, the "Potato Wizard" of Orange county, will act as tutor from early this morning until sometime this afternoon the budding agriculturists of the farming suburb will listen to words of wisdom and advice about spuds from a man who has made almost a life study of the one subject. Then they are going to begin doing their "bit" on a greater scale than ever before.

Some of the leading potato growers of Van Nuys and its vicinity until yesterday an idea they had about all there was to know about producing these jewels of the ground. Many had been even a little puffed up about the fine crops of spuds ripening for the market and about their little city. Then before they visited Andy Young's place and saw what can be done with potatoes under highly scientific methods of cultivation.

Fifteen of the many growers who have gone in for potato culture on an extensive scale in the Van Nuys district this year traveled in automobile to Mr. Young's farm at Huntington Beach yesterday morning as guests of W. Mr. Young has been growing potatoes on the same fifteen-acre piece of ground for twenty-three years and has never had anything resembling a failure in that time during almost the entire quarter of a century he has been experimenting. His one hobby in life is potatoes. Among his neighbors and friends he is looked upon as something of a magician, on account of the number of new kinds of spuds he has produced and the pounds of heavy yielding he has got to his vegetable pets per acre.

The visitors were shown fields of infinite variety planted under all possible conditions and at different times. They had demonstrated before them the possibilities of "dropping," "sell feeding" and various methods of cultivation. Then the Orange county expert, who learned by long experience and research by long years of study. They saw hills of thirty to forty or more potatoes covered in ground that had been to other crop in a generation. Then they were shown the potato fields and farms of others who had planted at the same fount of potato wisdom. Mr. Young came back to Los Angeles with the party and accompanied Mr. Whittsett to Van Nuys last night. He will inspect the potato crops of the Van Nuys district this morning and will discuss his methods with the growers, a big delegation of whom will meet the visitors at the grounds of the section with banners proclaiming the "Potato Wizard's" fame. It is the San Fernando Valley motto that days when the entire young city of Van Nuys was a grain ranch will be followed by one ownership and many.

WEED SUPPLIES A TOUGH FIBER.

Hitherto Disregarded Plant may Prove to be of no Small Value.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, June 26.—A peculiar cottonweed, growing wild on the hills of San Luis Obispo county, containing in its stalks a silky fiber stronger than hemp, has been discovered by Charles Seeley, city mail carrier.

Samples of the fiber have been sent to the textile department of the University of California for examination. It is believed that they may be of considerable commercial value.

Seeley picked up several of the stalks while on a hunting trip recently. He exhibited them at the office of County Horticultural Commissioner S. V. Christierson. The stalks on the outside have the appearance of an ordinary weed. When they are dried and broken, however, there is revealed within the bark, a peculiar silken fiber, running the full length of the stalk. Attempts to break the fibers proved they are tough as hemp.

CROWN CITY WILL CONTINUE EFFORT.

DESIRES TO SECURE ITS RED CROSS ALLOTMENT.

Pioneer Dies Suddenly at Avalon and Body is Taken to Pasadena for Burial—Woman's Section of Navy League will Continue to Knit for Men of Battleship.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, June 27.—Pasadena will continue its efforts to raise its allotted share of the great Red Cross fund in spite of the fact that the national canvass closed officially day before yesterday. Yesterday the city was still $20,000 short of the $100,000 which this community was asked to raise.

The body of George A. Greeley, pioneer resident and business man of Pasadena, who died on Santa Catalina Island yesterday morning after a brief illness, was brought to the city last evening. The family home is at No. 42 Valley street. For several seasons Mr. Greeley operated a stage line on the island. He came to California in 1866 and located in Pasadena in 1883. He was 62 years old.

WANT RATES REDUCED.

Twenty-eight residents in the district lying north of Washington street and east of Wilson avenue are named as complainants in an action brought before the State Railway Commission in an effort to force a reduction of rates charged by the Las Flores Water Company.

The woman's section of the Navy League will meet at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the palmroom at the Maryland. Plans will be discussed for continuing the work of furnishing knitted articles to the men on board the U.S.S. Kearsarge. A second shipment of knitted garments for the men of the battleship will leave Pasadena Thursday.

HOUSEMAID GIVES HER SAVINGS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SIERRA MADRE, June 26.—The Red Cross drive here has proved satisfactory, subscriptions totaling $6700. The allotment was $5000. Much credit is due the women workers on the Collection Committee. Over half of the $5000 was collected before last Friday. Subscriptions came from unexpected quarters.

One instance worthy of mention is that of a hard-working housemaid who gave her savings of $100. A young laboring man whose brother has enlisted, pledged a goodly portion of his weekly wage. The Red Cross chapter here is not only keeping up its record for membership, which has been growing weekly, but in the actual work of getting subscriptions and furnishing supplies it is more than holding its own. Mrs. M. D. Welsher is head of the chapter.

WARMTH KILLS SCALE IN TULARE COUNTY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, June 26.—The hot weather which prevailed throughout the orange district of Tulare county last week was of benefit to the orchards, according to C. H. Doyle, horticultural inspector, who has just completed his monthly tour of citrus properties.

It came just at the time the gray scale was hatching, and killed a large percentage.

In the opinion of Inspector Doyle the kill was sufficient in many cases to save the usual fumigation. There was no commercial damage to the fruit from the hot weather.

CHILD ACTRESS WANTS DAMAGES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 26.—In an application on file with the Industrial Accident Commission today 8-year-old Victoria Magana of Hollywood asks the commission to determine the extent of injuries sustained by her while in the employ of the Kalem Picture Company as a dancer and to make a suitable award of compensation. The application was filed through the girl's mother, Angela Magana. On February 20, while dancing before the camera, she was kicked in the abdomen by a horse which was appearing in the picture. She has not yet recovered from her injuries.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, June 28.—Within a week it is expected the new mill of the Mission Woolen Mills Company of this city will be in operation. The machinery is being put in place.

The new building, located at the corner of East Washington avenue and Santiago street, is 60x199 feet, two stories, concrete walls, and cost $70,000. Forty people will be employed.

The company, the stock of which is owned by less than half a dozen local men, has contracted for between $50,000 and $60,000 worth of wool and cotton. One of the articles to be manufactured will be blankets.

This enterprise is one that received financial encouragement from the Santa Ana Industrial Fund, organized by citizens who subscribed $87,000 to aid in locating factories here.

TERRACINA FIRE IS SUBDUED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BRYN MAWR, June 26.—This is the time of the year when the danger of forest and brush fires is the greatest and rangers are doing their best to educate the people to the necessity of using care. There have been several dangerous brush fires in the valley during the past few days but prompt work has prevented any great damage.

One of the worst started on the low hills in the Terracina section between here and Redlands today, but fortunately was controlled before it reached some of the beautiful homes on Terracina boulevard. The fire department of Redlands was called, although it is beyond the city limits, and with half a dozen men fighting the flames the danger was averted.

PREFER TO JOIN AMERICAN ARMY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

TULARE, June 26.—Reports that European countries expect to draft all their reservists in this country for service in their armies have awakened considerable interest in the Portuguese colony near here. It is declared by practically all of the men of military age who are still Portuguese subjects that if the plans as now announced are carried out they will enlist with the United States Army in which, they say, conditions are very much better than in their military establishment at home. A number of Portuguese registered in this precinct for the draft army, but practically all are ranchers and have dependent families.

ATASCADERO PLANS GRAND PAGEANT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, June 26.—Accuracy of detail will be a feature of the grand historical pageant of California to be given under the management of San Luis Obispo Elks at Atascadero, July 4. Fred Carlyle, director of the pageant, has returned from Los Angeles, where he arranged for the costumes to be worn by the members of the cast of 1000, which will enact the four episodes of the pageant.

In placing the order Mr. Carlyle said it was the desire of Exalted Ruler H. A. Gowman and the Executive Committee of the Elks that each period be truly represented. The Los Angeles costuming house, accordingly notified agents in various parts of the country to trace up exact types of costumes, relics and paraphernalia popular with the early Indians of California, the Spanish and the original pioneers.

REDLANDS RAISES ITS ALLOTMENT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, June 26.—Redlands has probably raised its allotment of $25,000 for the Red Cross war fund for reports made to headquarters today indicate that the mark has been reached. The local committee now has in hand $24,067 and there are several small districts to be heard from.

The committee worked hard on the drive for the allotment to Redlands was considered a large one. The largest subscription was of $5000. There were several subscriptions of $1000 and a few of $500.

GLENDALE DOCTOR HEADS COUNCIL.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, June 26.—Dr. Jessie Russell of Glendale was made chairman of the Los Angeles Woman's Committee of the Council of State National Defense, which became a permanent organization yesterday as the result of a meeting held at No. 719 South Hill street, Los Angeles.

Dr. Russell is prominently identified with club work in Glendale, and for years has been an active member and officer of the P.-T.A. She is first vice-president of the City Club of Los Angeles, also at the head of the Publicity Committee of that organization, and is State president of the California Congress of Mothers.

Instruction.

TOLD TO SIGN BEACH BONDS.

Supreme Court Orders a Writ of Mandate Issued.

Decision is of Importance to Two Harbors.

Means the Establishment of Several Industries.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, June 26.—The State Supreme Court today ordered a writ of mandate issued directing Mayor W. T. Lisenby and Treasurer H. L. Pillsbury to sign the $300,000 bonds recently voted by the people for harbor improvements, including the canal between Long Beach Harbor and the Los Angeles inner harbor.

The Supreme Court's decision is the result of a friendly suit instituted by the city against the Mayor and Treasurer to test the validity of the bonds. The victory is one of tremendous importance to the industrial district. The long-awaited word is a signal for work to commence immediately on the dredging of an inside passage connecting Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors, and combining the two into a twin port of wide scope and many advantages.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

It also means that industries which have been tied up and hampered by silt deposits for months will again be able to resume operations. Officials of the California Shipbuilding Company are rejoicing, since they will have no further fear of launching their vessels, built for the United States government, in the mud.

"Save the pay rolls," was the cry and slogan that is believed to have done more than anything else in securing the passage of the bond issue last October, when an impressive parade of workmen carrying lunch pails marched through the downtown streets in silent appeal to the citizens to pass the bonds. The decision of the Supreme Court means that the pay rolls have been saved, along with the future of the harbor.

BIG ENTERPRISES.

It is estimated that at least a score of big enterprises throughout the country were awaiting word to see whether the city would be allowed to carry out the terms of the bond issue before exercising their options on Long Beach Harbor property.

The Supreme Court's decision comes just when the bond-validating act passed at the last session of the Legislature becomes operative.

Famous Men Identified With California's History

Jack London — a true Native Son — was born in San Francisco in 1878. His life was one of adventure, and the thrilling plots of many of his "best sellers" were woven about his actual experiences. At various times in his career he was sailor, miner, salmon fisher, longshoreman, tramp, war correspondent to Japan and Manchuria —and brilliant novelist. "Call of the Wild," "Sea Wolf," "John Barleycorn" and "The Valley of the Moon" are but a few of his many popular books of fiction.

PROMINENCE OF RAILWAY ISSUES MARKET FEATURE.

Inquiry Attended by Reports that Interstate Commerce Commission will Approve in Large Measure the Request for Increase in Freight Rates — Additional Ten Millions in British Gold Arrives—Bonds Lower.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—Prominence of railway shares at materially higher levels was the most significant feature of today's trading. The inquiry for rails was attended by reports that the Interstate Commerce Commission would approve in large measure the request for higher rates, new rates operative next Sunday unless otherwise ordered.

Minor or reorganized rails figured to an unwonted extent in the rise, especially the Western and the Southwestern divisions. In several instances, notably St. Paul, which registered a gross advance of 2 points, improvement was ascribed to highly favorable crop conditions.

United States Steel and related industrials denoted further pressure at extreme recessions of 1 to 3 points. Motors yielded 1 to more than 5 points, Studebaker being the weakest feature, and coppers, shippings and oils were restrained by adverse Washington advices.

Central Leather reacted 3 points, to 69¾ after announcement of the extra 2 per cent. dividend, that rate falling under general expectations. Ohio Gas was the weakest stock in the list, dropping almost 7 points.

Total sales, $10,000 shares.

Continuance of 6 per cent. call money was neutralized by the arrival of almost $10,000,000 additional British gold.

The strength of lires and a slight setback in rubles were the only changes noted in the market for foreign exchange.

Bonds as a rule were slightly lower on nominal dealings. Liberty bonds held firm at par. Total sales, par value, $2,750,000. United States registered 2s declined ¾ per cent.; coupon and registered 3s of 1946 1 per cent. and Panamas 2 per cent. on call.

The count of what government officials believe to be the greatest hoard of gold ever stored simultaneously in one place in the history of the world, consisting of English, French and American coin and bullion that have all gone into the melting pots together, totalling $285,000,000, has just been completed at the United States assay office here, "without a penny found to be missing," it was announced today by Robert P. Leech, head of the settlement committee now making the annual inventory and audit of the office.

Verne M. Bovie, superintendent of the office, said bullion now on hand is more than ten times the normal average of previous years. The greatest total prior to the war, he said, was $80,000,000. This year's huge total is attributed to gold imports from the Allies to meet war bills and also to abnormal local receipts.

TOM REED CLIMBS ON EXCHANGE.

MINING LEADER BRINGS BETTER QUOTATIONS.

Optimistic Reports from the Main Workings of the Company Send Values Higher—Control to be Pooled—Union Oil Sells Up. Investment Soft.

Heavy buying of Tom Reed was the main feature at yesterday's session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and the stock closed very strong. There was not a sale recorded in the afternoon below 1.02 and the majority of transactions were at 1.05 or better, with a high of 1.10. Thousand-share lots were common and as soon as they were offered there was a buyer on hand to gobble them up. According to a dispatch that was received from Superintendent Rabb yesterday morning the clean-up of the mill last week ran above $11,000. Development work on the 500-foot level in the Ben Harrison claim has uncovered a new ore body averaging $14.79 in gold to the ton. A crosscut is being run from the main shaft of the Tom Reed claims in the Gold Reef district and this is already in 72 feet. In a comparatively short time the management of the company expects to tap the main vein system of the new district.

An important step was taken by the chief stockholders of the Tom Reed Gold Mines Company at an informal meeting held in Pasadena Tuesday morning. At this meeting it was decided to pool for a period of one year approximately 450,000 shares of the corporation, which represents better than 51 per cent. of the outstanding stock. In this way the control of the company will be preserved and the present management will have another twelve months to finish the comprehensive scheme of development that they are now carrying out. This action ought to make the price for Tom Reed exceptionally strong as it will remove the larger portion of the stock from a possibility of coming on the market. W. D. Card has resigned from the directorate and it is understood that he has sold all his holdings.

Union Oil recovered a quarter of a point yesterday and there was an improved inquiry for Amalgamated and Associated. Los Angeles investment was soft and dropped to 60. Although bidding was frequent for Arizona Ray only 5000 shares changed hands during the day, which was taken to indicate that insiders, who have been busily buying up the stock of late, had practically cleaned the market. From now on it is anticipated that there will be a sharp advance in the issue.

CAL PRODUCE MARKET.

derable selling pressure has ed among dry beans, which ered down prices substantially the entire list. Last week all were reduced from 1 to 2 a pound and further declines ticipated by the trade any day the present week. A strengthening influence has been reported damage to the new crop by hot wave ten days ago. This, ever, has not been sufficient to the generally stagnant condition of the market. While the acreage planted to beans throughout the ntry already is large, owing to unusually high prices which have for the last several months, likely that the yield will be still er increased owing to government propaganda which is being ed on in favor of this particular . A recent news story which been sent out by the Department Agriculture at Washington carthe slogan "When discouraged beans." It points out the fact beans may be planted late in season, after other crops have failed or the early plantings matured, and as this information will doubtless receive wide circulation through the newspapers of country it should have a substantial effect upon production, especially among amateur agriculturists.

According to the Commercial News, the canned-milk market is quiet at this time. Supplies are a trifle more plentiful than they were ten days ago, but there is not enough stock to weaken the market, and demands are still decidedly short. For the past few weeks there has been scarcely no small-size evaporated milk in the hands of local jobbers. Last week several distributors have expressed the hope that they could make delivery of this size in the near future. That large quantities of condensed milk have found their way into Germany in recent months is the declaration of the German War Committee of the condensed-milk industry. To secure these stocks, agents of the German government have gone so far as to purchase the bulk of this supply a can at a time from retail stores and at high prices. In some instances it is said that retailers favoring the Allies cause have been instrumental in securing milk for the Central Powers.

ANNEXATION IS SOUGHT AGAIN.

New Petition Filed by Santa Monica Committee.

First One a Failure Because of Ditto Marks.

Bitter Controversy Develops in the Beach City.

A new petition for annexation to Los Angeles, bearing 3200 names, was filed with Santa Monica officials yesterday. The document was circulated by a committee composed of J. J. Seymour, P. J. Dudley and T. F. Randolf, after a former petition, bearing 2186 names, had been thrown out on technical grounds.

This former petition, which was thought by the preponents of annexation to be ample, technically failed when 408 names were excluded on the ground that that number of citizens, in signing, had placed ditto marks where dates should have been written. This mistake has not been made in attaching signatures to the new petition. It asks the Trustees to call the annexation election within sixty days.

The proponents of annexation, who believe it will solve every municipal problem now confronting Santa Monica, declare every name on the new document has been checked and found correct and it is now up to the City Commissioners to call an election on the annexation proposal. And they predict it will be adopted by a decisive vote.

Animosity has crept into the fight and a lively controversy, involving officials of the seaside city and of the county, is in progress. It is charged that a part of the opposition to annexation is fostered by the cafe element, that fears stricter regulation if Santa Monica becomes a part of Los Angeles. Further, it is charged that the political element of the beach town does not like to contemplate loss of power and pay roll.

On the other hand, annexationists assert an ample water supply will be best secured by becoming a part of Los Angeles and using the aqueduct flow; that Santa Monica's sewage disposal problem would be solved by use of the Hyperion outfall; that lower taxes and generally more efficient municipal service would result from amalgamation with the larger city. They are directing all their efforts to forcing the issue to a popular vote.

DISCUSS RATE RAISE.

Advertising Men hear Railroads' Side of Plea for Higher Charges on Stuff that Moves over Steel Ways—Tobacco Man Also Talks.

After listening to an address by Paul Burks, attorney for the Santa Fe, on the proposed 15 per cent. increase in freight rates, members of the Advertising Club yesterday voted to appoint a committee to make a further study of the railroad rate situation.

W. W. Cribbins of Oakland, president of the Pacific Coast Advertising Men's Association, gave an outline of plans for the fourteenth annual convention of the association to be held in Oakland, July 22 to 26. Mr. Cribbins urged the Los Angeles club to send a large delegation to the convention.

J. Maurice Eckenrode, Pacific Coast representative of P. Lorillard Company, spoke on what advertising has done for the tobacco industry.

Mr. Burks's address dealt with the railroads in war time. He told about the voluntary organization of the roads of the country into a great continental system, to enable them to give to the government the most effective assistance towards winning the war. He also quoted the statement of E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe, who said the roads must both help win the war and help build up the country for use after the war.

REAL "INNER RING."

Woman Tells District Attorney of Alleged Gang at the Police Station that Victimizes Women, Who are Caught in Vice Raids.

The workings of an alleged hold-up gang at the Police Station were revealed to the District Attorney's office yesterday in a letter from Miss Inga Gunn, complaining witness in a grand larceny charge against William Henry, an attorney. She declared a machine of startling power, including newspaper men, several attorneys and a police judge, had for its purpose the extortion of fees from unfortunate women arrested in vice raids.

Miss Gunn said an attorney introduced her to two newspaper men, who, he said, had influence with the police judge handling her case. She alleges the newspaper men made two visits to her house demanding additional money.

This letter was handed at once to the Criminal Complaints Committee of the county grand jury, which already is investigating the alleged ring. All the witnesses at the recent Henry trial in the justice court have been interrogated, and an exposure of alleged corrupt practice at the Police Station is hinted.

AS JOFFRE TRIBUTE.

Fifteen Thousand Dollars Already in Committee's Hands.

With a host of child-lovers yet to be heard from, the Joffre Tribute Committee's contributions continue to flow in. Last evening the total exceeded $15,000, a sum which spells human lives among the destitute and threatened children of France.

Former Judge Walter Bordwell, chairman of the committee, expresses the hope that the flow of live-saving funds may not cease until the 1500 fatherless children of France, apportioned to Southern California shall have been provided for.

SABBATH SANS ANY PLEASURE.

Husband Says Wife Would not Even Walk on Sunday; Gets a Divorce.

Sylvester N. Pond, a contracting painter, declared in Judge Dewhirst's court yesterday that his wife, Jennie L. Pond, would not join him in the new home he had made in this county. In describing her characteristics he testified that she was a strict church woman, who would not indulge in any pleasure on the Sabbath, even so much as taking a walk.

It also appeared he would not promise to attend church with her, if she should come here. Further, that his son did not agree with him. Judge Dewhirst granted the divorce, but thought the couple should get together.

"We have a year to think it over," replied Mr. Pond.

CONCERT TO SWELL PLAYGROUND FUND.

OPERA COMPANY TO ENTERTAIN SATURDAY EVENING.

Proceeds will go for the Establishment of Musical Departments at the City's Various Recreation Centers, for Benefit of Both Children and Adults.

Under the auspices of the Playground Commission, a benefit concert will be given next Saturday evening by the Los Angeles English Opera Company, to raise funds for the municipal playground department. The entire proceeds of the concert, which will be given in the Normal Hill Center auditorium will be devoted to instituting musical departments at the various playgrounds, a project arranged by the Playground Commission.

Patrons of the affair will be the Board of Playground Commissioners, including Dr. J. E. Cowles, president; Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, Miss Bessie D. Stoddart, Mrs. Fenner H. Webb, Charles S. Lamb, Joseph D. Radford and C. B. Raitt, Mayor Woodman and the members of the City Council.

An excellent musical programme has been arranged by S. M. de Pasquali, manager of the Los Angeles English Opera Company, including a chorus of 200 voices, a ballet of sixty in costume, and well-known local soloists. Tickets will be sold at popular prices.

The work to be done with the money raised will be both educational and entertaining, according to Mr. Raitt, superintendent of playgrounds, and will give the children and adults of the city a chance to learn and enjoy good music. The musical centers will be started in the playground clubhouses.

Mrs. Cravens said the ceremony will take place this afternoon in the rectory of some Episcopal church, which she could not say. Immediately following the ceremony the couple will leave for a two-day honeymoon. They will live at No. 1035 Santa Cruz street, at the harbor.

The army man intended keeping his wedding plans very quiet.

VARIETY AT BIG FAIR.

Woman in Charge of Great Outdoor Carnival and Circus in Aid of Children's Hospital Assure Money's Worth—Classic Dancing Feature.

Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, in a series of dances, will be a feature of the big street fair and circus in Berkeley Square next Saturday afternoon and evening for the benefit of the Children's Hospital. The programme thus far arranged indicates that the show will net several thousand dollars for one of Los Angeles' most worthy charities.

Mrs. R. McD. Taylor of Berkeley Square is responsible for the idea of the fair, and she secured the use of the lawns and streets of the square to stage it. The event is for the general public and must be supported by it. One feature will be a big circus in which Toto, the Clown, one of the most famous artists in the world, and a score of others will participate. The street fair will offer a real fashion show and a myriad of other attractions.

Tickets can be secured at the grounds both for general admission and for all attractions.

Woman Sues to Foreclose Mortgage on Vessel.

In a foreclosure suit filed by Ida Folsom Trask yesterday the courts are asked to sell the ship San Diego to cover the nonpayment of a note executed by L. W. and Carrie M. Folsom September 29, 1916, for $3900. To secure the note a mortgage was given on the vessel, which is 99.5 feet long. The Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company, the Marine Hardware Company, Mary Weller and Mary A. Weller, executrices of the estate of Joseph S. Weller and others were joined as defendants to set forth their alleged interests in the boat.

FRESH ATTEMPT AT KIDNAPING.

Men Try to Lure Little Girl into an Automobile.

Child Flees; Police Pursue Suspects in Vain.

Gang of Abductors Believed to be Active Here.

Another attempt at kidnaping, believed to be the work of an organized gang that has been active lately in this city, was made at Temple and Rosemont streets yesterday morning, when two men tried to lure Lorma Mordan, an 8-year-old school girl, residing at No. 809 Waterloo street, and attending the Rosemont school, into an automobile, with promises of candy and ice cream.

One man was of about middle age and dark, the other younger and red-headed. They stopped the car and the dark man stepped out, opened the door and invited the girl to enter.

At this juncture, it is alleged, a woman who saw the men trying to coax the girl into the automobile, cried out in warning and the child became frightened and ran toward the school. The police were notified and Detectives Ritch and Rico hurried to the scene in a police automobile. The suspected men at once sped away, closely pursued by the officers. They had too great a start, however, and were able to elude their pursuers.

The red-headed man of yesterday's incident closely answers the description of the man who attempted to kidnap May Packer, 8 years old, daughter of Mitchell Packer, No. 2134 Kent street, and Helen Vanderwood, 7 years old, daughter of Charles Vanderwood, No. 522 Rosemont street, last Wednesday.

The officers now have a good description of the culprits.

In the Family.

DAUGHTER VS. MOTHER.

Will of the Father and Husband is Attacked on the Ground He did Not Write all of it, and that He was Influenced Unduly by the Wife.

The daughter and the son-in-law of Mrs. Libby Friedman are attacking a will of Paul Friedman on the ground that it is invalid, as it was not wholly written by him, and because Mrs. Friedman influenced him. The daughter, Olga Friedman Steinman, filed a contest yesterday. She alleges that Mrs. Friedman influenced her husband to sign the will, disposing of the $20,000 estate to herself, to prevent him giving any portion to his daughter.

Another will is offered to probate dated May 27, 1915, in which the daughter fares better. The will Mrs. Friedman files for probate is dated March 19, 1914. L. L. Steinman, the son-in-law, answering the opposition of Mrs. Friedman to the May will, denies it was executed under the influence of himself or his wife.

Mr. Friedman died in San Francisco last April 17.

REVERSE JUDGMENT.

Large Sum Involved by Decision of State Supreme Court.

The State Supreme Court has reversed the judgment, it was learned here yesterday, of the Superior Court of San Diego, in favor of the defendant in an action brought by the San Diego Construction Company against Mary S. Mannix, to recover $32,502.82, which is alleged to have been paid by the company as part of the purchase price of a tract of land that Mr. Mannix sold to the corporation.

After the execution of the contract of sale, J. B. Magnix made a gift to his wife of the instrument, conveying to her all of his rights in the property. The total price of the property, which consists of more than 460 acres, at the rate of $2000 an acre, was $92,636. The Union Title and Trust Company held the declaration of trust executed by Mr. Mannix and the San Diego Construction Company, and acted as trustees.

The Supreme Court holds that the lower court erred in its interpretation of the trust agreement and the contract.

BOYS MAY GO.

Mother, a Divorcee, Allowed to Take Them to Arizona.

Mrs. Augusta Vera Hummel, who obtained a decree of divorce from big Jack Hummel and was awarded the custody of the four children, yesterday got a modification of the order to keep the three boys at the Page Military Academy. She wanted to take the boys to Phoenix, where she conducts a hotel, and as there was no objection, Judge Shenk granted the order. The trial of the divorce action developed sensational testimony, Mr. Hummel filing an answer and cross-complaint. Mrs. Hummel charged him with cruelty and desertion.

CYCLIST FAINTS.

After fainting at his work, Joseph Grant, an employee of the Bradford Baking Company, who resides at No. 230 Avenue 30, decided to go to the Receiving Hospital for treatment. He borrowed a motorcycle and started, but before he reached the hospital he again became too faint to control his machine and pitched forward over the handlebars. As a result, he was cut and bruised on the head, face and body. He was picked up and taken to the hospital, where Police Surgeon Stadfield dressed his wounds. Then he returned to his home.

FIVE DANCE, THEN REST UP IN JAIL.

CHARGED WITH CONTRIBUTING TO TOTS' DELINQUENCY.

Police Say a Man and Four Women, Among Them the Mother of the Children, Were in Rollicking Scant Attire and Using Obscene Language.

Charged with contributing to the delinquency of four minor children, by dancing in their presence in scant costume and using obscene language, one man, H. R. Turritin, and four women, Mrs. Hazel Van Harten, mother of the children; Mrs. Carrie E. Cason, Mrs. Thora Drake and Miss Alice Ybarronda, sister of Mrs. Carson were arrested at 3 o'clock yesterday morning at Mrs. Van Harten's residence, No. 222 Eagle Rock avenue, by Detectives Hickey, Duett, Lawrence and Mackey.

Reports as to the conduct of the occupants of the bungalow reached Capt. of Police Hensley Monday afternoon and four detectives and five men of the neighborhood took up positions to watch the inmates at 10 o'clock in the evening. The vigil was held until 3 o'clock in the morning, when the detectives broke in and took the five adults and the four children into custody.

Mrs. Drake and Miss Ybarrondo say they are motion-picture actresses. The man is a cigar dealer. Mrs. Van Harten, who asserts she rented rooms to Mrs. Drake and Mrs. Cason, denies there was anything wrong with the dance. She says she rents rooms to support her children.

Pending the filing of formal complaints, the man and the women are held in the City Jail.

FINED ON ONE CHARGE.

Cabaret Performer may have to Answer Registration Evasion.

Edward Cunningham, a local cabaret performer, who pleaded guilty to sending of an improper letter to his 16-year-old wife at Oatman, was fined $50 by United States District Judge Trippet, yesterday, and given thirty days within which to pay the fine. Cunningham claimed that the trouble arose from the officiousness of his mother-in-law.

The matter of prosecuting Cunningham for trying to evade registration will be held in abeyance. He claims to be but 20 years of age, but the record in the marriage license bureau shows that more than a year ago he made an affidavit that he was 23 years of age.

Some Job.

GLORY BE! HOW CAN HE DO IT?

Won't Love, Visit a Cafe or Drink for Two Years.

Stabber Shoulders a Mighty Big Responsibility.

Loneliness Leads to Troubles, is His Philosophy.

Cafe visiting led to a love affair, the love affair led to drink, drink led to stabbing and stabbing led to jail, in the career of Leo Janko of No. 1263 East Seventh street. Yesterday he purchased his liberty again by swearing he would neither love, visit a cabaret nor drink intoxicants for two years.

Janko stabbed Mary Sikara while jealous of the attentions of another man, and pleaded guilty in Superior Judge McCormick's court.

When asked to explain his misconduct, the prisoner analyzed the situation.

"A man who is lonely will go to a cabaret," he said. "And a man who goes to a cabaret is bound to meet a girl, and he meets so many he will fall in love with one of them, at least. And when he falls in love with a girl who goes to a cabaret, you can just bet he'll be jealous, for she won't be true to him. And when he's jealous, he'll drink, and when he drinks he gets mad, and when he gets mad, he'll fight, and the way I fight is to stab."

Whereupon Superior Judge McCormick sealed the doors of the cabaret cafes to him, and for him makes of this a city without prandial song.

Thanks.

DR. LYMAN MAY STAY.

Federal District Attorney Recommends that Promoter be Allowed to Serve Second Term in Atlanta Penitentiary.

United States District Attorney Albert Schoonover sent a recommendation yesterday to the Attorney-General of the United States that Dr. John Grant Lyman, the promoter, who was sentenced by Federal Judge Olin Wellborn to fifteen months in San Quentin Penitentiary, be allowed to serve that time in the Federal prison at Atlanta, where Lyman will in August complete a similar term on conviction in New York for using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

Lyman is enamored of the Atlanta institution and does not care to take any chances on the San Quentin prison. When Lyman begins his second sentence the ball given here on his appeal to the United States Circuit court of $20,000 will be exonerated.

DANCING MASTER'S LOST LOVE SUITOR.

SEEKS HUNDRED THOUSAND IN VARIED DAMAGES.

Claims Automobile Man Stole Wife's Affections, After Married Life of Five Years, and that Health was Wrecked as Result. Tells of Flowers and Favors.

Charged with toying with the affections of Mrs. Ida L. Widner, Harry C. Reynolds, an automobile agent of Tucson, was made defendant yesterday in a $100,000 alienation of affections' suit. The alleged wrecking of the home of Clarence B. Widner, who was formerly a Tucson dancing master, occurred after a married life of five years, the Widners having been married at Santa Ana in July, 1912.

Last April, Mrs. Widner is alleged to have left home, and her departure was induced, the complaint shows, by automobile rides, flowers and other favors showered on her by Mr. Reynolds. This prayed on his health, Mr. Widner alleges, and through a nervous breakdown he was compelled to give up his work in Tucson. He came to Los Angeles, and the understanding was that Mrs. Widner would follow in a few days. This she did, but it is alleged that she accompanied Mr. Reynolds in an automobile. Mrs. Widner is said to be living in an Edendale bungalow.

Of the $100,000 damages asked for in the suit, $50,000 are compensatory and $50,000 punitive. The complaint was filed through Attorney Ray E. Nimmo. Mr. Reynolds had planned to return to Tucson yesterday.
